GEORGE GOULD MISSED BIRD BUT HIT MAN

Multi-Millionaire Somewhat Careless with His Gun While Hunting.

CHARGE OF SHOT SENT INTO ATTENDANT'S EYES

Physicians Say That Man Will Lose His Sight—Gould Rushes Wounded Man to New York On Special Train.

Raleigh, N. C., November 16.—While George Gould was shooting birds near High Point, this state, today, he accidentally shot Edward Burns, an attendant. Several shot entered Burn's eye. A specialist of Greensboro saying there was small chance of saving the eye, Mr. Gould at once sent the man to New York, where eminent oculists were told to spare nothing that science and skill can effect to save Burns' sight.

Heartless Conduct of Russians in North Sea Described.

Hull, England, November 16.—On the resumption of the board of trade inquiry into the North sea incident today, witnesses merely corroborated the evidence already known. The mate of the trawler Oceanic testified that one of the big Russian vessels remained behind after firing, but she did not speak to any of the trawlers, nor did she inquire what injury had been done. After anchoring for half an hour she sailed off.

Asked by Dr. Woodhouse, counsel for the Russian embassy, "What were the Russians firing at?" the mate of the trawler replied:

"At us, I think."

Dr. Woodhouse elicited from another witness that the Russian warships whose searchlights were turned on the trawlers did not fire. Skipper Haines, of the trawler Moulmein, said that at 6 o'clock in the morning, after the attack, he saw a battle ship about three lengths away, just like the Russian vessels which fired on the trawlers. The boatswain of the Moulmein also saw a "big ship" between 4:15 and 4:30 the morning of October 22. She was much bigger than a torpedo boat, but could not say if she was a battle ship. Dr. Woodhouse cross-examined this witness, but he stuck to his story, adding that the vessel was not British, but was particularly like the one which was firing most "on us the night before."

All the witnesses reiterated emphatic denials that any strange vessels were among the fleet or anything that could be mistaken for torpedo boats.

BRAVELY BATTLING FOR CZAR NICHOLAS

WOMAN DIES

IN THE RUSSIAN RANKS BEFORE PORT ARTHUR

HOTLY PURSUED BY JAPS RUSSIANS DESTROY SHIP

Torpedo Boat Destroyer That Escaped From Port Arthur Blown Up at Chefoo.

ACTION OF THE RUSSIANS CAUSED GREAT SURPRISE

Commander of Vessel Had Stated That He Would Disarm—The Vessel Bore Dispatches From General Stoessel for Czar Nicholas.

Chefoo, November 16.—The Russians have blown up the torpedo boat destroyer Restoropny.

The Russians, with the exception of one man, left the destroyer during the afternoon. This last man lit fuses and blew up the vessel.

There were three dull explosions, which were scarcely discernible a hundred yards from the place where they occurred.

Almost simultaneously the Restoropny sunk and settled on the bottom. A battle spar marks her grave.

It is impossible tonight to secure an explanation of the action of the Russians, but it is believed they were determined not to allow a repetition of the Ryeshitelni incident. Prior to the destruction of the destroyer, the taotai had officialy notified the Japanese consul that her disarmament had been completed, the breech-blocks and ammunition having been removed and the machinery disabled.

How Vessel Escaped.

The commander of the Restoropny had an interview on his adventurous voyage, saying:

"I left Port Arthur at midnight in a blinding snowstorm. The boat was navigated through the dangers of floating mines without a mishap. On reaching the open sea we saw a Japanese cruiser and some torpedo boats in the distance, but we were steaming rapidly through the storm and passed them unnoticed. We reached Chefoo without mishap of any kind."

The commander of the torpedo boat destroyer was optimistic with reference to Port Arthur. He declared that all the forts remained in Russian hands, and that the garrison was confident and in good spirits.

Commander Pelem added that the destroyer's object was simply to carry dispatches. The other Russian ships remained at Port Arthur.

The Restoropny being one of the fastest of the Russian vessels soon outdistanced her pursuers and entered Chefoo, with a music box playing a sprightly air and the savory odor of a breakfast steak apparently testifying to the fact that Port Arthur still enjoys fresh meat. The destroyer sped in like an arrow at 6:50 a. m., and anchored a few hundred yards abaft the United States cruiser New Orleans, the flag ship of Rear Admiral Folger, commander of the cruiser squadron of the Asiatic fleet. The Chinese cruiser Hai-Yung raised steam within twenty minutes and came close to the Restoropny. Captain Ching, of the Hai-Yung, boarded her and held a brief conference with Commander Pelem. Ensign Wainwright, Rear Admiral Folger's aide, boarded the Restoropny immediately, but he and Captain Ching were not invited to enter the Restoropny's cabin, although a blizzard was cutting their faces.

GENERAL KUROKI VERY MUCH ALIVE

Tokio Laughs at Russian Rumors of Death.

Story From Moscow Was An Old Russian Rumor Revamped. Kuroki Directing One Wing of the Japanese Army In Manchuria.

Tokio, November 16.—The Russian story of the death of General Kuroki was received with amusement in official circles here. It is recognized as a revamping of the Russian rumor concerning Kuroki, which was given currency about six weeks ago.

It may be stated officially that General Kuroki, far from being dead, is in active command of one wing of the Manchurian army, as he has been from the first.

FEDERAL JUDGE FORCED TO QUIT

Selfish, if Not Corrupt, Practices Charged to Brown.

Washington, November 16.—President Roosevelt has removed from office Frank H. Richards, United States marshal for the Nome district in Alaska, and has requested the resignation of Judge Melville C. Brown, of the Juneau district. This action is the result of the investigation of the Alaska judiciary made recently by Assistant Attorney General Day. The case of Judge Alfred S. Moore is held in abeyance.

The nature of the charges made against the officials was not made public in detail, it being deemed advisable not to publish at this time the report made by Judge Day. It is known, however, that the charges involved selfish, if not corrupt, practices before the Alaskan courts in mining claim cases.

The charges against Judge Brown, who was appointed from Wyoming, were in effect that he had a personal interest in mining cases which were before his court, and that he had appointed his secretary a receiver of some properties which were in litigation.

Charges, from time to time, have been made against nearly all the federal officials of Alaska, Governor Brady not being exempt, but it is said that the action of the president today finally closes the matter of these charges, officials of the administration being satisfied that Governor Brady, Judge James Wickersham, of the Yukon district, and other officials involved in them, have acted in the best interests of the territory. Judge Wickersham was reappointed today.

SIDE BY SIDE WITH HUSBAND WOMAN FOUGHT

Her Sex Discovered, But Gen. Stoessel Allowed Her to Stay in Ranks.

JAP SHELL STRUCK HER WHILE IN THE TRENCHES

Eight Others Were Killed At the Same Time—The Gallant Amazon Buried Wrapped In the Flag of All the Russias.

Chefoo, November 16.—The Novikral of November 12 contains a romantic story of Haritena Korotkiewitch, who, although a woman, served valorously in many fights at Port Arthur until death closed her strange career. The Novikral gives many details of the adventures of the woman which go to make the story one of undoubted authenticity.

The husband of Haritena Korotkiewitch was serving at Port Arthur. In endeavorng to join him she was stopped at Harbin and was not allowed to proceed further, owing to her sex. She then donned masculine attire and succeeded in reaching Port Arthur shortly before the landing of the Japanese on the peninsula of Liao Tung. Finding her husband's regiment, she enlisted in it. She participated in numerous sorties and in the defense of the forts, and although her sex was soon discovered, her record for bravery, tirelessness and attention to the wounded and the excellent moral influence she exerted over the soldiers, who never swore in her presence, won her permission to remain in the ranks.

While fighting side by side with her husband the latter was wounded. His wife nursed him until the crisis in his case was passed, when she returned to the front, where she became messenger to Captain Gouzakofinky, of the Thirteenth regiment. In the performance of her duties as messenger she was often seen riding fearlessly from one position to another, seemingly unaffected by the bursting of shells or the din of battle.

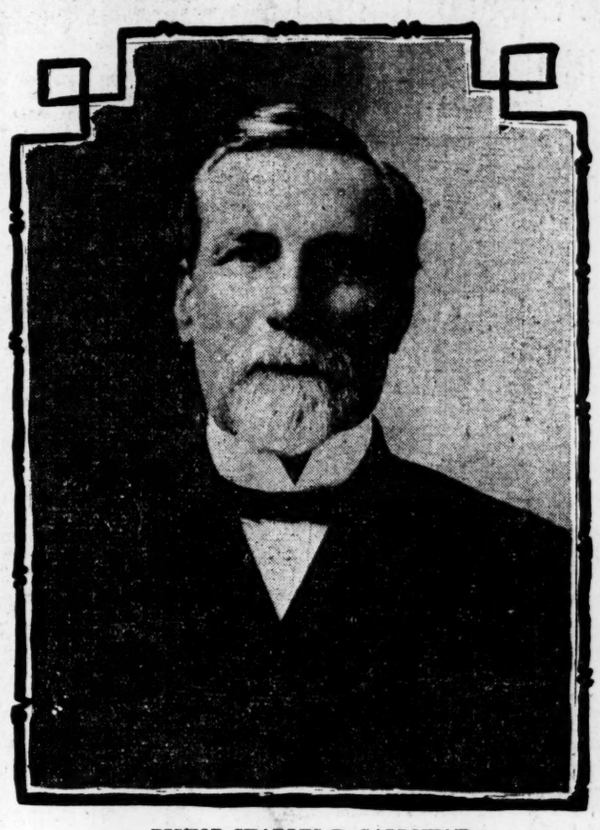
On October 16 she visited the trenches with dispatches, when huge shells from the Japanese guns struck and destroyed the Russian position. Haritena Korotkiewitch and eight others were instantly killed. They were buried in one grave, with the Russian flag wrapped around Haritena's body.

The Novikral concludes its story by saying:

"Haritena Korotkiewitch had won the respect and admiration not only of the soldiers, but of the higher officers, and had shown all how to die nobly."

The four issues of the Novikral brought by the Ratstoropny show evidences of a merciless censorship. Two of them contain no war news and not one publishes a single explicit statement having references to the fighting on land.

FORTY THOUSAND JAPS HAVE MET THEIR DEATH BEFORE PORT ARTHUR



BISHOP CHARLES B. GALLOWAY

He Has Returned From an Episcopal Visit to the Orient. During His Stay In the East He Furnished a Series of Letters to The Constitution.

Bishop Galloway, Just From Far East, Tells of Japan's Enormous Losses---But Japs Are Confident of Ultimate Victory.

JACKSON, MISS., November 16.—(Special.)—Bishop Charles B. Galloway, of the southern Methodist church, who has returned from a trip of several months through the Far East, near the scenes of the Japanese-Russian war, and who spent several weeks in China and Japan, presiding over the mission conference of his church in that part of the world, writes that the public has been given no idea of the horrible slaughter and the terrible losses sustained by both sides in the operations around Port Arthur.

"I will venture the assertion," says Bishop Galloway, "that the Japanese alone have lost more than forty thousand men in the effort to capture Port Arthur. The full extent of the losses have never been made known, for the Japanese cremate the bodies of their soldiers slain in battle. When I left Japan, all the military hospitals were filled to overflowing, and there are from forty thousand to fifty thousand soldiers under treatment for wounds received in battle. The loss of life has been appalling.

"As to the outcome of the struggle in the Far East, the Japanese can reach but one conclusion. They feel victory in their bones, and the populace at home is in constant readiness for the celebration of victory. The war spirit is sustained by the intense patriotism of the people, but I gravely fear, if the struggle is prolonged, that Japan will be the heavier sufferer, for her resources are being severely taxed. The Japanese are capable of putting 1,000,000 soldiers in the field, but the financial burden will be enormous. The business interests of the island are suffering keenly on account of the conflict and the conservative element is praying for peace.

"The consequences of the war will be far reaching. There will be new international alignments; indeed, a reconstruction of the political map of the Far East, if not of the world. The country most involved, of course, is China. Korea has little hope from either side until there is a change of dynasty or destiny, but all eyes are upon the Celestial empire. Some of her political leaders expect great things from the success of Japan, while others think that China has nothing to gain from the war. The assured independence of Korea is already giving Japan much trouble, and what this assurance really means we will not be able to tell until peace is declared and the war is ended.

"The longer the war is the worse it will be for Japan and the class of her citizens who think for themselves are beginning to realize this fact. The people have already made immense sacrifices and stand in readiness to make more, but gravely fear that their resources are growing limited and the burden will soon become too great for them to bear."

Bishop Galloway pays a high tribute to the war correspondents who are now with the two armies in the Far East, and especially the Americans. He says that "when one thinks of the restraints put upon war correspondents, for which they have some right to complain, it is realy marvelous what they have done, and their reports are invariably confirmed by later official statements."

TIED TO MAST MEN SURVIVED GREAT STORM

Fearful Experiences of Crew of Brig Sweeney During the Recent Gale.

GREAT WAVES SWEPT OVFR BOUND SAILORS

Further News From Along the Coast Shows That Storm Was One of Worst On Record—Great Liners Were Buffeted By Waves.

Philadelphia, Pa., November 11.—After having been lashed to a mast for more than 24 hours and with hope of rescue almost abandoned, Captain Fisher and crew of seven men of the brig C. C. Sweeney were taken from their perilous position Tuesday afternoon by the steamer Hawaiian from Honolulu for this port.

The men suffered greatly from exposure to the weather, but are apparently no worse for their experience. The brig left Charleston early last week for Philadelphia with a cargo of lumber, and encountered the southern hurricane Sunday off the Virginia coast. The brig withstood the terrible wind and sea for a short time only, and then became waterlogged. The deck load and houses were swept away, and the vessel finally broke in two.

The crew then climbed the main mast and lashed themselves in the main sails to keep from being washed away. They remained in this position until Monday afternoon, by which time the sea had moderated enough to permit them to return to the deck of the half sunken hulk. No vessel was sighted until Tuesday morning, when the Hawaiian responded to their distress signals and rescued all hands. The brig was abandoned in latitude 36.30 N. longitude 73.45 W.

Collier Has Rough Voyage.

Norfolk, Va., November 16.—The United States naval collier Sterling, Captain George McDonald commanding, which arrived at the yard late Wednesday evening, is considerably the worse for wear as the result of the terrific storm along the Atlantic coast which was encountered Saturday night and Sunday. The collier left the navy yard at Pensacola on the evening of November 8, bound for this port.

At 8 o'clock Sunday morning the Sterling refused to steer, either to run before the gale or to come ahead to it. The cabin became flooded and the main boiler worked in its saddle so violently that it caused the steam pipe to burst. As a result of this accident the steamer's boilers had to be blown out and the engines stopped.

A sea anchor, composed of side ladders and fenders, lashed together and attached to seventy fathoms of 6-inch Manila hawser, was placed over the stern of the collier as a drag to prevent her from laying in the trough of the sea. In this condition the collier drifted for 78 miles until Monday, when the storm abated. So disabled was the collier that it took her fifteen hours to make the trip yesterday from the capes to this yard.

FOR RAIL HORROR HE IS INDICTED

Conductor Caldwell, of Southern, Must Face Jury.

Knoxville, Tenn., November 16.—W. B. Caldwell, of this city, who at the time admitted his responsibility for the terrible wreck on the Southern railroad near New Market, Tenn., early in September, in which sixty-two lives were lost, has been indicted by the grand jury of Jefferson county, Tennessee, for criminal negligence. The indictment was found at Dandridge today.

Caldwell was conductor on the westbound passenger train which overran its orders to meet the eastbound passenger at New Market and crashed into the eastbound train a few miles west of New Market. His engineer, the only other man who could have been held responsible, was buried beneath his engine in the crash. The penalty for criminal negligence in this state is imprisonment from two to ten years.

It is stated that Caldwell, who is still in Knoxville, will be arrested tomorrow. Attorney General W. H. Buttram, of Jefferson circuit court, states that he received a letter from Judge C. W. Heiskell, of Memphis, whose son, Clayton Heiskell, was killed in the wreck, requesting him to prosecute Caldwell on the charged named. Acting upon this request, the indictment was obtained.

Criminal negligence, in the sense in which it is used in this case, is a felony in Tennessee, punishable by a penitentiary sentence.

North Carolina Man Chosen.

St. Louis, November 16.—The national convention of railroad maintenance of railway employees today elected John T. Wilson, of St. Louis, grand president, and W. S. Powell, of Greensboro, N. C., second vice president.

UNDER CONFEDERATE FLAGS MISS LUCY HILL IS WEDDED

RICHMOND, Va., November 16.—(Special.)—Amid a profusion of confederate flags, while the banner of A. P. Hill camp rustled its folds above their heads, Miss Lucy Lee Hill and General James Macgill were united in marriage at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon in St. Paul Episcopal church, Petersburg. It was near this city that gallant General A. P. Hill, father of the bride, lost his life just before the close of the fierce civil struggle. It was a military wedding, with a choral service and all the ushers were sons of veterans and active in that organization.

Bishop Randolph, assisted by Rev. Dr. Bunting, performed the ceremony. Mrs. William Macgill was matron of honor, and the groom's son, Charles M. was best man. The bride was escorted to the altar by Stith Boling, past grand commander of the state grand camp of veterans. The veterans of A. P. Hill camp, all of whom followed her father, presented the bride with a purse of gold.

Mrs. Macgill, who has been engaged in literary pursuits, lived with her mother in Chicago. General Macgill served during the civil war in the First Maryland cavalry. He was with Jackson in his valley campaign, and fought at Gettysburg and in most other famous battles of war.

There were many distinguished guests, among them General Fitzhugh Lee, General Julian Carr, of North Carolina; General Bennett Young, of Kentucky, and General Evans.

MRS. JAMES MAC GILL,
Formerly Miss Lucy Hill, Daughter of General A. P. Hill, the Famous Confederate Soldier.

AS HE SWUNG ON GALLOWS DEAD BOY CLASPED HANDS

WETHERSFIELD, Conn., November 17.—Joseph Watson, the 18-year-old colored boy who murdered Henry Osborn, of Hartford, last August, paid the penalty for his crime this morning when he was put to death by hanging on the gallows in the state prison. The drop was sprung at 12.09 and at 12:15 Dr. Fox, the prison physician, declared him dead. The reflex muscular action shown by Watson after the drop was sprung was remarkable. While suspended in the air and apparently after his neck had been broken, he clasped his hands, then drew them apart and finally let them drop to his side. Shortly before midnight the sacrament was administered to the condemned boy, and later he knelt in prayer with his spiritual adviser, the Rev. A. A. Crook, of Hartford.

RUSSIAN RIVALS DEED OF HOBSON

Daring Exploit of Midshipman at Port Arthur.

Chefoo, November 16.—(Evening.)—The Port Arthur newspaper, Novikral, of November 11, copies of which were brought to Chefoo this morning by the Russian torpedo boat destroyer Ratstorophy, prints brief details of a daring exploit which resulted in the sinking of a four-funneled Japanese torpedo boat destroyer.

Japanese torpedo boats and one destroyer were engaged in removing mines, mostly their own, from Tache bay, on November 3. Midshipman Dimitrieff conceived the idea that he could torpedo the Japanese boats under cover of darkness as the latter were very busy and enjoying a fancied security. It was the very audacity of the plan, The Novikral says, that made it successful.

Securing a steam launch from the battle ship Retvizan, one carrying a torpedo tube, and accompanied by half a dozen silent volunteers, Midshipman Dimitrieff, in the dense darkness, slipped out of the harbor and succeeded in evading the Japanese search lights.

Circling around the Japanese boats with the launch moving at top speed the midshipman came within striking distance from the seaward side and launched his projectile. It sped through to the destroyer. There was a sudden explosion and the destroyer sank immediately.

All On Board Lost.

Washington, N. C., November 16.—Captain Charles Williams and three others left here Saturday on the schooner Missouri for their home in Hyde county, and were stormbound at Indian head. They anchored off the shore, but after dinner Sunday the wind blew them from this anchorage and the boat was capsized and all on board drowned.

FIGHT TO THE LAST, SLOGAN OF STOESSEL

Late Dispatches From Port Arthur Indicate That General Has Not Asked for Permission to Surrender Fortress to Japanese.

St. Petersburg, November 16.—No definite knowledge is obtainable up to half past 5 p. m regarding the nature of General Stoessel's report to the emperor, but the fact that he considers it advisable to sacrifice the torpedo destroyer Restoropny in order to communicate it inulcates urgency which naturally has aroused all sorts of alarmist rumors. One is that the Port Arthur squadron is about to make another effort to escape. The prevailing belief is that General Stoessel has asked for instructions whether to surrender, the condition of the garrison being reported a sdesperate. In official circles, however, the firm belief is expressed that General Stoessel will not yield.

Dispatches from the Russian consul at Chefoo and from the agent of the finance ministery reporting the arrival of the destroyer at Chefoo, although they throw little light on the situation at Port Arthur, do not indicate a crisis. The latter dispatch is brief, simply saying that the Restoropny reports all well at Port Arthur.

It was later learned from a high-placed general who was with the emperor this afternoon, and who knows the contents of General Stoessel's message, that all the talk about General Stoessel's asking for instructions to surrender is absolutely false. He said he was not at liberty to disclose the nature of General Stoessel's report, but he remarked:

"Only when the last biscuit is eaten and the last cartridge fired will the garrison surrender the fortress. This I can state positively."

Considering the authority, the general's words may be accepted as a repetition of the views of the emperor himself.

The general further stated that the surrender report was all the more ridiculous, as several vessels had broken the blockade and reprovisioned the garrison. He added:

"General Stoessel also knows that the second Pacific squadron is on its way."

Shipwrecked Crew Rescued.

Philadelphia, November 16.—The steamer Hawaiian, Honolulu for Philadelphia, passed in Delaware breakwater today with Captain Fisher and the crew of seven men of the abandoned brig C. C. Sweeney on board. The Hawaiian took the Sweeney's crew off yesterday near Cape Henry. The Sweeney was loaded with lumber and was waterlogged when abandoned. She was bound from Charleston, S. C., for Philadelphia.

YELLOW REBELS ARE VICTORIOUS

Imperial Troops Are Forced to Flee in China.

Shanghai, November 16.—The rebels have repulsed the Imperial troops at Llue Chow Enu in the province of Kwang, southern China. They have captured Yuen Hsien, Tien Ho Sien, Locheng Chien, Hua Yen Hsien and Liu Chen, five of the principal towns in the province. The merchants and bankers fled from the towns.

Chou Fu, former governor of the province of Shantung, who was recently appointed viceroy at Nanking, has been ordered to proceed immediately to his post and to take measures to check the rebels in the Yang Tse valley.

A dispatch from Shanghai October 13, reported a three day's fight between Chinese troops and rebels at Locheng Shien, one of the towns mentioned in the foregoing cablegram, in which a large body of the latter were defeated.

SHAW VISITS IN NEW YORK.

He May Call on Depository Banks in December.

New York, November 16.—Secretary of the Treasury Shaw was in the financial district today. He made a brief visit to the subtreasury. One of his callers there was James Speyer. The secretary was asked whether he had decided when he would make his call upon the depository banks for funds to replenish the treasury reserve. He said this might not be done before the new year, but that if certain contingencies should arise he would issue the call in December.

LET STATE BUILD SINGLE ROADS

And Not Encourage Building of Competing Lines.

That's Position of Association of Railway Commissioners—Allege that Competitive Lines Encourage Mergers and Combines.

Birmingham, Ala., November 16.—At today's session of the National Association of the Railway Commissioners, the various committees reported. Isaac S. Brown, of Pennsylvania, presented the report of the executive committee, which dealt, among other things, with the matter of damages for injuries and the welfare of passengers and common shippers. Upon recommendation the next executive committee was instructed to prepare a bill for enactment into law by the various state legislatures covering these subjects, defining the rights of each party in the premises

The same report also dealt with the matter of competitive lines, and took grounds against states encouraging the construction of such lines when said states have power over the single lines. The contention was made that competitive lines encourage mergers and combinations. The committee recommended the preparation of a bill for adoption by state legislatures along these lines. The report was adopted.

W. W. Morgaridge, of Pennsylvania, reported for the committee on classification and operating expenses of electric railroad. It recommended the same classification as was adopted in Denver and later in the states of New York, Pennsylvania, Vermont, Illinois and others.

Judge Judson C. Clements, of the interstate commerce commission, presented the report of the committee on legislation. The report said that the Elkins act has operated thus far to largely diminish rebates and other devices to secretly cut the tariff rate and thereby produce discrimination between shippers. On the other hand, new forms and new methods are constantly being devised and applied to accomplish the same result. Because of complaints among shipers at the failure of roads to furnish cars for moving freight, there is much discussion, the report says, of what is termed reciprocal demurrage. However, it is recommended that the matter be fully discussed by the convention before any action is taken. The report adds that there is no definite requirement in the federal statutes for federal carriers to furnish cars to shippers and the only method by which damages can be obtained is to show unjust discrimination.

DR. WOODCOCK WAS CHOSEN.

Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Kentucky.

Louisville, Ky., November 16.—After a session lasting ten hours, during the course of which twelve ballots were taken, the diocesan council tonight elected Dr. Charles Edward Woodcock, of Detroit, Protestant Episcopal bishop of Kentucky.

Dr. Woodcock is at present rector of St. John church, Detroit. He is a New Yorker by birth and before assuming the rectorate of St. John was successively assistant rector of Grace church, New York, rector of the Church of the Ascension, New Haven, Conn., and rector of Christ church, at Ansonia, Conn.

PARIS' BOND FIXED AT $10,000.

He Killed P. T. Shores, of Tallulah Falls, Recently.

Gainesville, Ga., November 16.—(Special.)—Judge J. J. Kimsey today granted bail in the sum of $10,000 to W. S. Paris, of Clayton, Rabun county, who shot and killed P. T. Shore, of Tallulah Falls, some weeks ago. It is said that Paris will be able to make the bond in a few days and be released from custody. He has been confined in jail in Clayton since the tragedy.

HE LOCKED GORE IN DURANCE VILE

Gore So Alleges in Suit Against Augusta Boniface.

Travelling Man Sues Hotel Proprietor Lawrence for $5,000—Very Sensational Charges Made By Him In His Declaration.

Augusta, Ga., November 16.—(Special.) A suit for $5,000 damages was filed this afternoon against Bryan Lawrence, proprietor of the Albion hotel. The suit is the result of a circus day celebration.

Frank C. Gore, a traveling shoe salesman, is the plaintiff, and he alleges in his petition that Lawrence and himself were taking a bottle of beer together in the hotel after the circus, when all of a sudden Lawrence very mysteriously announced that he "knew Gore all right." Lawrence thereupon accused Gore of being a forger and several others things, and sprung a detective badge as authority for arresting him.

Gore also alleges that Lawrence, under a threat to shoot, marched him off to police headquarters and had him locked up for several hours, and that during the time he was incarcerated his baggage was searched and other indignities were offered him; that he tried to explain to the police officers who he was and showed letters to substantiate his claims, but being a stranger and Lawrence being a prominent citizen and member-elect of council, his word was taken instead of Gore's.

After having been locked up for four or five hours, Gore claims to have been released at the instance of Lawrence.

THREE KILLED IN COLLISION.

Nine Other Persons Injured by Rear End Crash.

Detroit, November 16.—Three passengers were killed and nine or more passengers and trainmen were injured in a rear-end passenger train collision today at Elmdale division on the Pere Marquette railroad. The dead:

LOREN DOGGER, West Alto, Mich.

M. SIMON, 315 Seventy-ninth street, New York city.

J. L. STRELITZKEY, 4839 Champlain avenue, Chicago.

The Saginaw train had preceded the Detroit train out of Grand Rapids by a few minutes and was standing on a "Y" at Elmdale, where the Saginaw division branches off from the Detroit division. Through some mistake the switch was not turned behind the Saginaw train and the Detroit train also ran upon the "Y," the engine of the Detroit train crashing into the rear of the parlor car of the Saginaw train.

BLACKS DO NOT WANT EQUALITY

Says Booker Washington in Addressing Colored Audience.

Social Intermingling With Whites Is Not Considered Necessary for Negro's Racial Development—Sound Advice.

Montgomery, Ala., November 16.—(Special.)—In an address delivered here yesterday on the opening of a colored club and reading room, Booker Washington reiterated the advice he has given to his negro hearers in all his public lectures, to make every effort to increase the value of their service in every department of manual toil, to seek to own their homes and buy small pieces of land to cultivate, to refrain from shielding the criminal and to cooperate with the good white people in preserving the law. He declared his belief that the negro did not seek social equality with the whites.

He sounded a note of warning against the extravagance and excesses to which his people might be tempted by the unusual success and financial prosperity that many of them now enjoy.

American Negro Is Well Off.

"Referring to the opportunities that are at hand, recently I have been studying into the condition of the six or eight million of our people in South Africa, and I find that the opportunity afforded the American negroes in the southern states is far beyond those existing in South Africa. The field for development is far beyond any that exists for the Mexican peons. And, again, if we are inclined to become discouraged, let us compare our condition with that of the Russian serfs or Russian boys who, in industrial, educational and professional opportunities, are almost centuries behind the American black man.

"More and more in our moral life we must learn to draw the line between the good and the bad, the vicious and the virtuous. We must set our seal of approval upon right living and create a public sentiment that shall condemn wrong living. We should see to it that by no word of act we shield the criminal element of our race. We should let the world understand that we are just as anxious to seek out and see that our criminals are brought to proper punishment as any other race.

As to Social Equality.

"Right here I want to repeat what I have often said in the past in the direction of freeing, if I can, the minds of our friends from apprehension of danger in two directions. It has been my privilege to mingle freely with the leaders of the race in every part of this country, and I say without hesitation that the negro does not consider social intermingling with any other race as one of the essentials for his development. Neither is the negro seeking in any part of this country as a race, to control the white race in matters of government. In purely social matters the negro finds all the satisfaction that he wishes among the members of his own race, and in proportion as education increases the number of intelligent negroes, in the same proportion will he find such satisfaction increased because of the enlarged number of men and women with whom he can find association with satisfaction.

OLD BOARD WAS REELECTED.

Annual Meeting of Charleston and Western Carolina Road.

Charleston, S. C., November 16.—At the annual meeting of the Charleston and Western Carolina railroad today the old board and officers were reelected. J. B. Cleveland, president; Henry Walters, vice president; H. D. Cronly, scretary; J. F. Post, treasurer; J. R. Kenly, general manager; T. M. Emerson, traffic manager; H. C. Prince, general auditor.

Directors—H. Walters, Michael Jenkins, W. G. Elliott, J. B. Cleveland, A. Avery Patton, A. F. McKissick, J. D. C. Fleming, J. P. Doughley, J. A. Broch. All were present except Mr. Doughley. The president's report was read and adopted.

The annual meeting of the Northwestern of South Carolina was also held and officers were elected. President Thomas W. Wilson's report was read and adopted and 4 per cent dividend declared. Meetings were also held of the Charleston Terminal Company and Charleston Union Station Company, which resulted in routine business and reelections of officers.

CORTELYOU IS PRESIDENT.

Election of Officers of Kennesaw Marble Company.

Marietta, Ga., November 16.—(Special.) At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Kennesaw Marble Company, held at the office of the company today, the following directors were elected: H. C. Clement, John H. Kendall, S. K. Dick, R. W. Boone, John P. Cheney, J. P. Legg and A. V. Cortelyou. At a subsequent meeting of the board of directors the following officers were elected: A. V. Cortelyou, president and general manager; H. C. Clement, vice president, and R. W. Boone, secretary and treasurer.

Since the death of the late George F. Newell, who was for so many years president and general manager, Mr. Cortelyou has been acting in that capacity for some months. The mill is in a splendid condition and there has never been a time in the thirteen years of the company's existence when it was doing more business than at the present. The election of Mr. Cortelyou, who is one of Marietta's most prominent young business men, to this important position, is a deserved compliment. The capital stock of the company is $100,000 and they have a good surplus.

Algonquin Battered by Gale.

Jacksonville, Fla., November 16.—The Clyde liner Algonquin arrived here this morning slightly listed to starboard because of the shifting of her cargo during Sunday's storm and with a slight rip in her side, made by the bowsprit of an unknown schooner which she encountered. The schooner was without lights and hove up in front of the Algonquin when the storm was at its height. It was almost impossible to avoid a collision, as both vessels were rolling on heavy seas.

Alaskan Officials Removed.

Washington, November 16.—President Roosevelt has removed from office Frank H. Richards, United States marshal for the Nome district, in Alaska, and has required the resignation of Judge Alfred S. Moore, of the Nome district, and Melville C. Brown, of the Juneau district. This action is the result of the investigation of the Alaska judiciary made recently by Assistant Attorney General Day.

Received Callers On 90th Birthday

Mrs. Phebe Amelia Pratt Observes 90th Anniversary of Her Birth at Her Home in Chelsea, Mass.

MRS. PRATT.

Says She Is in Excellent Health and Feels as Vigorous as a Girl. Due to the Use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

Mrs. Phebe Amelia Pratt, widow of William Pratt, yesterday celebrated her ninetieth birthday anniversary at her home, 166 Broadway, Chelsea. A reception was held from two to six, during which the old lady received numerous callers and was the recipient of many presents. She was assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. George Pratt, of Stoughton; Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Pratt, of Chelsea; Mrs. Eugene Pratt, two of her grandchildren, Chester and William Pratt, of Chelsea, and Ida and Mabel Pratt, of Stoughton.

The reception was planned by her relatives and the members of the First Baptist Church of Chelsea, of which she is a member.

During the summer Mrs. Pratt wrote:—

"Gentlemen:—I am now almost 91 years of age and am in excellent health, owing to the use of Duffy's Malt Whiskey. Catarrh of the throat troubled me for four years, and I tried many remedies, without any benefit, until a friend induced me to try Duffy's Malt Whiskey.

My general condition was very poor also until I used Duffy's, but I am very glad to state that since using this grand medicine the catarrh has left me, my general health is better than it has been for years, and I know that it has prolonged my life. I most certainly would not be without it."

This letter of Mrs. Pratt was taken at random from among thousands received from men and women who gratefully thank Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for their wonderful freedom from disease and for their marvelous old age. More are published in a booklet, which you may have free by writing.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is a gentle, soothing, tonic-stimulant, which replaces the weakened, diseased tissues, tones up the nerves, strengthens the heart, makes digestion and nutrition perfect. It purifies the blood and regulates the circulation so that every organ is made to do its work perfectly and fully, keeping the whole system in vigorous health and lengthening the days far beyond the century. Every testimonial is published in good faith and guaranteed.

Like all good things, Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is imitated by unscrupulous dealers. Accept nothing but the genuine, which is guaranteed absolutely pure and without fusel oil. It's sold by reliable druggists and grocers everywhere; $1.00 a bottle. You will know it by the "Old Chemist" trade-mark on the label. Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

NAN PATTERSON FIGHTS FOR LIFE

Actress on Trial Accused of Murdering Caesar Young.

She Enters Court Dressed in Black—Her Father is Attending the Trial—Miss Patterson Has Been in Jail Six Months.

New York, November 16.—After more than five months in the Tombs prison awaiting trial on a charge of murder, the case of Nan Patterson, the alleged slayer of Caesar Young, was brought to trial in the criminal branch of the supreme court today. Delay first from one cause and then from another has been a prominent feature in the case ever since Miss Patterson was taken into custody after the tragic death of Young in a cab in which he and the young woman were driving to the pier, where Young was to take a steamer for Europe.

Even in its last stages, after the date for trial had been fixed, a minor case which claimed the attention of the court dragged slowly along and formed another delay. In anticipation of the beginning of the trial the court room was crowded with spectators when Justice Vernon M. Davis took his seat on the bench today. There was only a slight delay before it was announced that everything for the opening of the trial was in readiness.

Miss Patterson, dressed in black, was brought in by prison attendants and took a seat beside her counsel, Abraham Levy and Daniel O'Reilly. Her father, J. Randolph Patterson, of Washington, had a seat within the bar enclosure. The work of selecting a jury from a special panel of 100 talesmen was begun at once.

The examination of each talesman was conducted with extreme thoroughness and one man, who apparently had passed all the requirements, was turned away by the defense when he said, in answer to a question, that he had friendly feelings toward District Attorney Jerome.

Elwood Hendricks, a broker, was the first man to answer al the questions to the satisfaction of both the prosecution and the defense.

The prosecution will depend entirely upon circumstantial evidence in building their case against the defendant, according to a statement made by Assistant District Attorney Rand during the examination of talesmen.

Richard S. White, a lumber dealer, had declared himself opposed to finding a verdict in a capital case on circumstantial evidence alone and referred to the possibility of eye-witnesses to the shooting testifying before the jury.

"So far as I know," said Mr. Rand, "the prosecution does not intend to call any eye-witnesses to the shooting of Caesar Young."

Four jurors had been accepted when adjournment was taken for the day.

DR. SPENCE FINED BY COURT.

For Attempting Assault on J. R. McDonald

Waycross, Ga., November 16.—(Special.) In the superior court today Dr. J. M. Spence, representative from Ware county, was today fined $100 and costs for attempting an assault on J. R. McDonald, his political opponent, some months ago. The grand jury returned two indictments against Dr. Spence, one for carrying concealed weapons and one for assault with intent to murder. The indictment for carrying concealed weapons was not prossed and Dr. Spence was allowed to plead guilty to pointing a pistol at another.

Judge Parker granted a continuance, for the term, of the murder case against Dan C. Davis and D. C. Murray, who killed Horace Roberts in this county last year. The defendants asked for a continuance on the ground that two of their most important witnesses were absent. Because of the prominence of the Davis, Murray and Roberts families the outcome of the case has been looked for with great interest.

The case against Carey Howell, a young white boy who was recently indicted for the murder of Johnny Barber, the young son of Obadiah Barber, was begun in Ware superior court this morning. Young Howell's defense is that while out hunting with the Barber boy his gun was accidentally discharged, severely wounding young Barber. The attorneys for the prosecution are attempting to show that there was bad feeling between the boys and that just before he died Johnny Barber stated that Howell had shot him and threatened to "let him have the other barrel of his gun." The case will be completed some time tomorrow.

ORGAN RECITAL A SUCCESS.

Dr. J. Lewis Browne and Local Artists Entertain Big Audiences.

Dr. J. Lewis Browne, assisted by a trio of local artists, gave a recital at the Sacred Heart church last night, which was full of interest and held the attention throughout of an audience that filled the church. The programme was attractive in selection and so pleasingly presented that the prohibition of applause was at times quite a hardship, and enthusiastic listeners involuntarily broke into a subdued murmur of approval.

Dr. Browne's selections betrayed a Bach favoritism, two great works by that composer—prelude in G major and fugue in C minor—gracing his programme to the gratification of the tutored in music who were present, since the organist's treatment of these two subjects was splendid and satisfying and worthy of more detailed comment than space will permit. A Rheinberger sonata—No. 4 in A minor—was the brilliant opening number and the other organ selections were of picturesque interest.

Mrs. M. M. O'Brien's singing was of the delightful quality that has made her reputation and that attracted to her many of last night's audience. Miss May Frances Waldo played, and she is a young violinist recently come to Atlanta whose confident, skillful work is making for her a pronounced popularity. Mr. Armour, also a new resident, has a pleasing tenor voice and a tasteful way of using it that secured success for his two contributions to the programme.

DEVILS REJOICE OVER ARMAMENTS

So Dr. Dabney Says in His Inaugural Address.

In Assuming the Presidency of the University of Cincinnati, Dr. Dabney Discusses "Democracy and the School"—Great Crowd Present.

Cincinnati, November 16.—Dr. George W. Dabney was today inaugurated president of the University of Cincinnati. Mr. Dabney in his inaugural address discussed "Democracy and the School." He said in part:

"Let us cast our of our minds all arguments for the free education of all the people. It is true that it pays a community to educate all its youth, but the public school is not a charity institution. School houses and school masters are cheaper than jails and soldiers, but we do not found the public school on any such ground as this. Such arguments for free schools are little less than an insult to a free people. The true democracy is something nobler than a policeman guarding and protecting our property and our rights. The democracy established its public schools to train new citizens and to fit them for self-government, and when it shall have done its duty in this respect there will be no need of policemen and soldiers.

"A democracy spending hundreds of millions for warships and so forth, armies and navies is enough to give devils joy. If we spent one-fourth of this treasure in schools and missions, the whole world would soon be ours in bonds of love, and there would be no need of these engines of death and destruction.

"Men have, indeed, a right to govern themselves, but without education men have not the capacity. Suffrage is not a natural right, but a privilege assigned to those who qualify themselves for its proper exercises in accordance with a standard fixed by the state.

"Democracy means self-government: self-government necessitates universal education, and universal education can only be accomplished by free public schools under the control of all the people."

The speaker concluded with a reference to Japan as "an example of what education can do for a people."

Rectal Diseases Cured

It is no longer necessary to undergo an operation for the cure of a rectal disease, for by a method in possession of Dr. J. Newton Hathaway, the renowned specialist, a cure can be brought about without such harsh and uncertain means. He cures blind, bleeding, internal or exposed piles, and fistula, fissures, ulcers and cancers of the rectum. He performs no operation, uses no knife. Still, it should not be supposed that a simple suppository, such as is sold in drug stores and by mail order venders, will cure so serious a disease. It requires an individual and constitutional treatment, for piles are often but the symptom of more serious diseases—derangement of the intestines, stomach, liver, heart and blood. It is an important symptom in consumption, sexual weakness, weak lungs,

CATARRHAL DISEASES.

and still other serious derangements of the system. Dr. Hathaway does not merely cure the symptom, but the entire disease as well, and all its complications. Therefore, when you are cured by this master specialist you can rely upon it that you are perfectly free from all diseases of whatever nature. He will make you sound and strong, put your functions in perfect order so that you can sleep and wake up refreshed and eat and become strong from it. Call on the doctor and talk the matter over with him. He makes no charge whatever for a thorough examination, counsel and advice. Remember his specialty—all Chronic Diseases of Men and Women. ALABAMA AND MISSISSIPPI FOR ATLANTA UNIVERSITY

More Than Three to One Supported University Plan.

Action of Alabama Synod Contingent On the Dissolution of the Injunction—Synod of Louisiana Has Not Yet Acted.

Anniston, Ala., November 16.—(Special.)—By a vote of more than 3 to 1 the Alabama synod in session voted late this afternoon for the majority report from the Atlanta conference. By this motion the synod of Alabama concurs in the majority report which provides for the union of the Presbyterian school at Columbia, S. C., and the Southwestern Presbyterian university, now located at Clarksville, Tenn., into one large school, to be located in Atlanta, provided legal obstacles are removed.

An injunction has been taken out to prevent the removal of the school from Clarksville, but should the injunction be dissolved, this synod favors the union.

At the session this morning the session was given over to the discussion of ministerial education and ministerial relief. Rev. H. M. Sweets, of Louisville, Ky., secretary of the southern assembly board of ministerial education and ministerial relief, made a report and an address tonight. The subject was "The Orphans' Home at Talladega" and about $5,000 was subscribed for its support. The college for men to be located here will be the special order for tomorrow morning. Rev. G. D. Patterson, of Montgomery, is moderator of the synod.

Mississippi for Atlanta.

Hemphis, Tenn., November 16.—(Special.)—The Mississippi synod, in session at Holly Springs, has again gone on record as favoring theremoval of the Southwestern Presbyterian university from Clarksville, Tenn., to Atlanta.

Resolutions offered by Dr. Huton were adopted with the amendment made by Dr. Somerville, that is understood that the synod of Mississippi is not a defendant in the suit concerning the removal of the university to Atlanta.

The resolutions as adopted deny the allegations of the board touching the ownership of the university and affirm the institution be the property of the Presbyterian church in the United States as represented by the synods of Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

Louisiana Has Not Acted Yet.

New Orleans, November 16.—(Special.) The Louisiana Presbyterian synod today heard reports from committees. Drs. Theron H. Rice and J. W. Waldon, of the Georgia synod, were introdiced. A number of communications from the several state synods of the south were read; also reports of the committees appointed last year to meet in Atlanta, Ga., last January to devise means and plans in regard to the removal of Southwestern Presbyterian college from Clarksville, Tenn., to Atlanta, Ga., which were referred to a special committee of five—Rev. L. Voss, Rev. J. Y. Allison, Rev. D. O. Byers and Elders F. P. Stubbs and J. E. Adger, who were instructed to report back to the synod. At the afternoon session a special committee, appointed to pass on the matter of the removal of the Southwestern institution at Clarksville, Tenn., made their report, which was a voluminous document, and caused much discussion. Action was postponed until after the night services.

Barnesville Firms to Dissolve.

Barnesville, Ga., November 16.—(Special.)—The firm of J. W. Stafford & Sons will be dissolved on January 1, W. C. Stafford retiring from the business by mutual consent of the partners. A new firm will be formed composed of J. W. Stafford, R. A. Stafford and F. M. Stafford, and the firm name will be the same as it is now, J. W. Stafford & Sons.

Cashier Childress and Ticket Seller At Georgia Railroad Depot Short In Their Acounts—Both Have Disappeared, But Left Letters.

Athens, Ga., November 16.—There is a shortage in the accounts of the cashier and ticket seller at the depot of the Georgia railroad in this city, and the two young men who held those offices—J. Hammond Childers and Joseph J. Hunter—have left for parts unknown.

The amount of the short age has not yet been ascertained, and will not be until the accounts have been audited thoroughly. It is rumored that Childers, who was the cashier, is short anywhere from one to three thousand dollars, while Hunter's shortage is placed at four or five hundred dollars.

Traveling Auditor Rhodes, of the Georgia railroad, came to Athens last Friday to check up the accounts in the office here. He worked on the books all day Saturday, and did not complete the work. He went back to Augusta and returned to Athens Monday night.

Tuesday morning Childers and Hunter failed to show up for work, and General Agent Cox at once began to investigate as to their whereabouts. He found two notes at the office addressed to him, and on opening them found that they were from these two young men.

Mr. Cox did not desire to give the notes out for publication, as they were private notes, but he gave out the substance of the notes to the press.

What They Say In Notes.

Childers, in his note, states that he was short a few hundred dollars, and that the shortage must have arisen from mistakes that he had made in the accounts. He disclaimed any appropriation of money for his own use and said that he did not care to stand the checking up of his accounts by the auditor, and for that reason had gone away. He gave no intimation as to where he had gone. Hunter in his note, said he was short a small sum that had arisen from mistakes made in selling tickets. He, too, disclaimed any appropriation of money for himself.

One strange thing in connection with the affair is that Hunter left in his safe $500 in bills and some silver money, which he could have easily taken with him when he left.

Childers was bonded for $3,000, and Hunter for $500 in the Guarantee Company of America. It is believed that the bonds will cover the entire shortage, and that the railroad will lose nothing. A representative of the bond company is here in consultation with the authorities of the road, and an effort will no doubt be made to apprehend the two young men.

Childers had been cashier at the depot for the past two years. Prior to that time he had been connected with the depot in many capacities, having risen from the bottom to the position he occupied. He had entire control of the cash at the depot, all money passing through his hands. Hunter had also been with the road a number of years, but had occupied the position of ticket seller only six or eight months. Both young men were trusted by the company and their conduct in the past had not been such as to arouse the suspicions of their employers.

Neither of the young men was a high liver and it is not known they they were in any speculative deal. Friends of the two young fellows say it is a case of mistakes in accounts and that they were simply unnerved at the appearance of the auditor and did not have the grit to face the shortage.

Auditor Rhodes will continue the checking of the accounts until he is enabled to arrive at the exact amount of the shortage.

No one has any idea of where the two young men went. They must have left Athens some time Monday night, but there is no trace of the direction in which they went. They were both well known here and their friends are shocked at the occurrence.

DOG SCENTS THROUGH TRUNK

Raleigh, N. C., November 16.—(Special.) The game season has opened in North Carolina, and the agents for wardens of the Audubon Society are very active to prevent the shipment of partridges out of the state, and to protect game and song birds with special care. The largest seizure of partridges was made yesterday at Greensboro, a specially trained dog belonging to Warden S. J. Weatherly finding the birds. Several times each day the dog is taken to the express office and if birds are in any kind of a package except one hermetically sealed, he will "set" them. In this case he set a large trunk, which was broken open by the warden, who found in it 465 partridges on their way to New York from Chatham county. Trunk and birds were confiscated and the birds sold for $1.50 a dozen. All sorts of tricks are being attempted to get birds out of the state.

COL. W. C. P. BRECKINRIDGE IS STRICKEN BY APOPLEXY

COL. W. C. P. BRECKINRIDGE, OF KENTUCKY.

LEXINGTON, November 16.—Colonel W. C. P. Breckinridge, former congressman from the Ashland, Ky., district for ten years and one of the best known orators and lawyers in the south, was stricken with paralysis at his law office this morning, and is seriously ill. Some weeks ago, while at Marquette, Mich., trying a law case, Colonel Breckinridge contracted a severe cold, and upon his return to Lexington suffered the second attack of illness of his life. He had never fully recovered from that illness and had attened to little business, though going to his office every morning for the past week. Today, while seated at his desk, he was stricken with paralysis. An examination by physicians showed the right side paralyzed. Tonight he is slightly improved, though he is not yet able to speak. Physicians pronounce his condition serious, but not immediately critical. Should he suffer another paralytic stroke, however, it is feared that the result would prove fatal.

SHACKLEFORD AN INVENTOR

Editor of Oglethorpe Echo Invents Telephone Device of Value.

Lexington, Ga., November 16.—(Special.)—W. A. Shackleford, editor of The Echo, is receiving congratulations from his friends upon having had granted him on the 8th instant a United States patent on an invention of his, which it is thought will prove quite valuable.

It is a device to be attached to telephoes on what are known as party lines, or lines to which a number of 'phones are attached, such as are becoming so numerous through the country. The device serves a dual purpose, preventing a conversation between any two 'phones on a line from being overheard at any other 'phone on the line and allowing of any number of pairs of instruments on a line being in communication at the same time without interfering with each other.

Mr. Shackleford applied for a patent only after giving the device thorough, practical test, and after having submitted it to and received the assurance of several electrical experts that it would do all that is claimed for it.

The device is quite simple and inexpensive and can be readily applied to any make or style of telephone. Mr. Shackleford is receiving a number of offers for the patent right, but he will not sell until he has fully ascertained the true value of his invention. He is somewhat of an inventive genius and has several other devices of differing natures worked out, but this is the only one for which he has applied for a patent.

He has friends all over the state, especially among the newspaper fraternity, who would be rejoiced to see him meet with the success in a financial way that is now his promise from his patent.

COMMISSION AT BRUNSWICK.

Senators Bacon and Clay Will Address the Meeting Today.

Brunswick, Ga., November 16.—(Special.)—The congressional merchants marine commission arrived in the city tonight at 11 o'clock, coming from Pensacola, Fla., where a meeting was held Tuesday. The commission will hold a meeting in the city hall tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, at which many addresses will be delivered by members of the commission and by local and visiting business men who are interested in shipping. Besides the delegates from Savannah, Jacksonville, and other south Atlantic ports, Senators Bacon and Clay will be present, and it is expected that they will both address the meeting. The business session of the commission will be held in the forenoon and in the afternoon, the commission and visitors will be given a boat ride. The members of the commission, which is called the southern subcommittee, is composed of Senator Thomas S. Martin, presiding; Senator Stephen P. Mallory, of Florida, and Representative Thomas Spight, of Mississippi, together with the secretary.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful it is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

START TO SERVE THEIR TERMS

Thomas Sullivan and Dr. Barrow To Be Assigned to Camps.

Americus, Ga., November 16.—(Special.) Thomas Sullivan, accompanied by one of his attorneys, left this afternoon for Atlanta, where tomorrow, it is understood, he will appear before the prison commission for assignment to one of the state camps to serve his sentence of four years. Mr. Sullivan was convicted at the recent session of Sumter superior court for assault with intent to murder, growing out of a criminal operation formed upon a young woman here.

Dr. George W. Barrow, a practicing physician here, was convicted of performing the criminal operation, and likewise sentenced to four years in the penitentiary. He has since been confined in the county jail, pending the result of the appeal of both cases to the supreme court. A decision was rendered last week affirming the sentence of the superior court, and both men must serve their sentences in the penitentiary.

Mr. Sullivan was a well known jeweler here and member of the city council, standing well socially and in business circles. Dr. Barrow is a gray-haired citizen, and much sympathy is expressed for both among their friends.

AS "BOY TRAMPS" GIRLS HAVE FUN

It Became Serious When the Police Were Summoned.

Two little girls created quite a lively sensation last night by masquerading as tramp boys and before they got through with their fun the police were appealed to and that stopped the frolic. It was only an effort on the part of two fun-loving little girls to have a good time, but the affair became serious enough to invoke the aid of two police officers.

Last night about 7:30 o'clock Call Officers Mayo and Coker were sent for to arrest two "suspicious characters" on East Harris street. They were informed that two tramp boys were going about armed with a pistol and threatening to kill everybody who refused them anything to eat. At two houses on East Harris street the tramps, the police officers were told, had pointed a pistol at cooks for declining to furnish them with food and the cooks had disappeared.

The officers found the "tramp boys" and they were two little girls dressed up in their brothers' clothes and one of them carried a toy pistol. The girls were frightened when they saw the police officers. They said they only meant to have a little fun and would "never, never do so any more."

The little girls were sent home, where they donned their own attire and went to sleep last night probably with their ideas of fun considerably changed.

THINK THEY HAVE MURDERER

Savannah Officers Arrest a Very Bad Negro.

Savannah, Ga., November 16.—(Special.) J. B. Brown, as he calls himself, was arrested by the police here today charged with trying to cash a check for $14 on a Charleston bank. The check is worthless. The police say that the negro is really Sam Brown, who committed a murder at Meggetts, S. C. Allen P. Hethington, a white man, was the negro's victim and since the crime constant effort has been made to apprehend the murderer. Rewards of $300 and $200 are offered for the apprehension of the murderer, the first by the relatives of the murdered man and the second by the governor of South Carolina. Brown denies all knowledge of the crime, but he is being held for officers from Meggetts.

MISSISSIPPI TOWN BURNED.

Flames Destroy Business District of Dublin.

Clarksdale, Miss., November 16.—The entire business district of the town of Dublin, on the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley railroad, with the exception of one building, was wiped out by fire today. The loss is estimated at $50,000, with partial insurance.

Capture of Horse Thief.

Eufaula, Ala., November 16.—(Special.) Goodman Espy, a farmer, who resides 16 miles south of the city, reached here this morning from Marianna, Fla., where he had been in pursuit of a thief who stole his horse and buggy from his home one day last week. Mr. Espy not only recovered his horse and buggy, but succeeded in capturing the thief also, who is a strange negro in this section.

CATARRH FROM BABYHOOD.

MRS. GEO. VAN DUSEN AND DAUGHTER.

NEGLECTED COLDS LEAD TO CATARRH.

NEGLECTED CATARRH BECOMES CHRONIC.

Mrs. George Van Dusen, Mohawk, Herkimer Co., N. Y., writes:

"Having derived so much benefit from your grand medicine, I felt as if I must write to you and tell you what a great help it has been to us.

"My little daughter when but two months old took a severe cold and it settled in her head and continued to get worse, and in a few months terminated in the worst case of catarrh that has ever been known in this part of the state.

"After doctoring with the best doctors for three years and receiving no benefit, we were persuaded to try a widely advertised catarrh cure, and at first we thought it was helping her, but after using twenty or more bottles she was as bad as ever.

"As a last resort we began with Peruna, and she is now nine years old, and for the past year has been the healthiest child you ever saw. The catarrh has entirely disappeared. No discharge nor odor at all, but we keep the precious bottle in the house, and at the first appearance of cold with any of us we immediately take Peruna. We know there is nothing like it. In our estimation it is priceless."—Mrs. George Van Dusen.

ONE of the greatest foes with which every family has to contend is our changeable climate.

To protect the family from colds and coughs is always a serious problem, and often impossible.

Sooner or later it is the inevitable fate of every one to catch cold. Care in avoiding exposure and the use of proper clothing will protect from the frequency and perhaps the severity of colds, but with the greatest of precautions they will come. This is a settled fact of human experience.

The Root of Many Evils —A COLD.

One is liable to catch cold in any season. Everybody must expect to be caught somewhere or somehow.

Perhaps it will be wet feet, or a draught, or damp clothes, or it may be one of a thousand other little mishaps, but no one is shrewd enough to always avoid the inevitable catching cold.

Pe-ru-na Contains no Narcotics.

One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotics of any kind. Peruna is perfectly harmless. It can be used any length of time without acquiring a drug habit. Peruna does not produce temporary results. It is permanent in its effect.

It has no bad effect upon the system, and gradually eliminates the catarrh by removing the cause of catarrh. There are a multitude of homes where Peruna has been used off and on for twenty years. Such a thing could not be possible if Peruna contained any drugs of a narcotic nature.

KILLED HIS MAN IN STREET DUEL

Two Grand Juries Fail to Indict Boggs, and Matter Ends.

Bainbridge, Ga., November 16.—(Special.)—After hearing evidence the entire day the grand jury late this afternoon failed to return a true bill against Mercer Baggs, charged with the killing of John Hunter in a duel between the two on the streets of Bainbridge, February 27 last. The grand jury at the May term of court also found no bill, and this finding by two successive grand juries virtually amounts to an acquittal and stops farther prosecution of Baggs.

The duel between the two young men, in which both emptied their pistols and Hunter was killed immediately and Baggs shot twice, created widespread interest throughout the state on account of the prominence of the participants, who had been partners to within a few months of the duel, which was caused by business differences.

TWO MURDERERS EXECUTED.

Neill Setters and Dave Brown, Colored, Hanged Yesterday.

Wilmington, N. C., Noveber 16.—Neill Sellers and Dave Brown, negroes, convicted in Bladen county in October, of the murder of Mrs. George Parker, near Clakton, N. C., early in September, were hanged on a double gallows in the jail yard at Elizabethtown today. Both protested their innocence.

LOU DILLON AGAINST TIME.

Speedy Mare, However, Fails to Equal Her World' Record.

Memphis, November 16.—Weather and track conditions were almost perfect today. Lou Dillon failed to equal her world's record of 2:01 made last Friday, trotting the unpaced mile in 2:01¼.

The time by quarters was 30¼, 59¾, 1:29½, 2:01¼.

Trainer Sanders, after today's effort, said that in his opinion Lou Dillon needed more work, and he announced that she would start again tomorrow against 2:01.

SECOND DAY IS VERY BUSY ONE

Meetings of Christian Church Convention at Savannah Well Attended.

Savannah, Ga., November 16.—(Special.)—This was the second day of the convention of the Christian Church in Georgia. Last night's opening meeting at the Bolton Street Christian church, where all the sessions are held, was a rousing one, there being many interesting and encouraging talks heard and promise given of excellent work being accomplished by the convention.

Today there are three sessions. They, like that of last night, were presided over by the vice president of the organization, Rev. W. H. Roper, of Macon, in the absence of the president, Rev. R. Lin Cave, of Atlanta, who could not attend, it was reported, because of a recent bereavement.

The morning session began at 9:15 o'clock, when a Bible study was held, conducted by Rev. W. J. Cocke, of Atlanta. The subject of the study was "Holy Spirit."

Committees for the work of the convention were then appointed, after which the reports of the officers of the organization were received. These showed that the several departments are in excellent condition.

Recording Secretary W. A. Chastain, Treasurer H. M. Patterson, Evangelist W. J. Cocke and Sunday School Evangelist William Shaw rendered reports. "Ministerial Education" was the subject of Rev. J. H. Wood, while Rev. A. McLean, foreign missions secretary, of Cincinnati, spoke on the "Art of Giving." Rev. A. E. Seddon conducted the morning session with an address upon the "Lord's Supper."

Rev. B. H. Morris conducted the devotional service with which the afternoon session was begun, after which C. V. LeCraw discussed the "Need of Business Methods in Religious Work." A short business session followed, after which "Our National Educational Work" was discussed by Rev. C. E. Morgan.

Rev. J. W. Hall conducted the devotional services tonight, Rev. J. H. Hughes delivering the address. Another address upon "Home Missions" was delivered by Rev. B. L. Smith.

The convention will adjourn Friday, holding three sessions tomorrow and three on Friday.

M'CLUNG LEAVES RAILROAD WORLD

Famous Yale Athlete to Become Alma Mater's Treasurer.

Gives Up Position With the Southern to Become Again "McClung of Yale"—News In Railroad Circles.

The announcement of the resignation of Lee McClung as assistant freight traffic manager of the Southern railway, and the appointment of R. L. McKellar, at present assistant general freight agent at Memphis, to take his place, was the great topic of interest in the gathering of the railroad men at the Piedmont yesterday.

Mr. McClung, who has been associated with the Southern for some time, and who has very many friends in Atlanta, has resigned his present position to accept that of treasurer of Yale college. Mr. McClung is an old Yale man, having graduated in the class of 1892 from the great university in Connecticut. Since his graduation, he has risen rapidly in the railroad world to his present position, and it was with sincere and genuine regret that news of his resignation was learned among the railroad men yesterday. At the same time he was the recipient of congratulations from all sides for the great honor that had been bestowed upon him by his alma mater.

"McClung of Yale," as he was known all over the country, was one of the greatest athletes and foot-ball players in the country in the late 80's and early 90's. For two seasons he was selected on the All-American team, and his play was always characterized by wonderful strength and endurance and Yale grit. These same characteristics he carried with him into the railroad business, and they were the occasion of his rapid rise.

When the old collegian mentions the names of McClung and Heffelfinger of Yale, it is to think of the great Poe and "Snake" Ames of Princeton, Lee of Harvard, Helsman of Pennsylvania, and all of those great gladiators of the gridiron that helped so much to make the collegiate sport the greatest in the country. Mr. McClung—for, while he used to be known as "McClung of Yale," he is now known as Mr. McClung of the railroad world—still carries the magnificent physique that helped to make him famous among all the sons of old Eli. End even now, if you will go to the old City of Elms, on part of the old Yale fence undergraduates will still point with pride to the hacked letters that spell the name of the mighty McClung of '92.

Not only was he a great athlete, but he was also a student who won distinction, and his acquaintance with the alumni of Yale and the other old universities helped him greatly in the railroad profession, which he entered after completing his studies. He was immensely popular, of course, throughout all his college days, and this same popularity he has since carried with him, and there was no mistaking the fact that the railroad men from all parts of the country were genuinely sorry to see such an all-round man leave the work in which he had won such signal success. But for the old Yale man there is always the old Yale spirit, and, above the turmoil and the tumult of every commercial struggle, he can always hear the voice of his alma mater calling, and hearing, he obeys.

And it is for this reason that Mr. McClung of the railroad world, on December 15, will leave his associates among whom he has always been so popular, and will once again become "McClung of Yale."

Mr. McKellar, who is slated to succeed Mr. McClung, is also well known in Atlanta, where he has many friends. With the assuming of his new duties he will leave Memphis and make his headquarters in Louisville, Ky. He will take his new position with the certainty on the part of all his friends that he will continue to hold the same reputation which is now his, that of being one of the best and cleverest and most practical railroad men in the entire south.

Railway Notes.

"Colonel Jim" Heyward of the West Point route, has returned from a trip in Tennessee.

Colonel John Word, president of the Transportation Club, announces that a committee has already been appointed to look for more spacious quarters to accommodate this organization, which is growing so rapidly and which has back of it such splendid assets both in a membership and in a financial way.

There were several committee meetings of railroad men held at the Piedmont yesterday. These were all executive, and, according to the reports of the members, only routine business was transacted.

Land Agents Elect Officers.

Birmingham, Ala., November 16.—At a meeting of the Southwestern Railway, Land and Industrial Agents' Association, held here today, the following officers were elected:

President, M. V. Richards, of the Southern railway; first vice president, G. A. Park, of the Louisville and Nashville; second vice president, J. E. Ingraham, Florida, East coast line; secretary, W. L. Glessner, of the Georgia Southern and Florida. Leading trunk lines of the southeast were represented at the meeting, which was held behind closed doors. Immigration and southern development were among the subjects considered. The delegates will visit the mineral industries of the Birmingham district tomorrow.

POLITICS WARM AT COLUMBUS

Registration for Municipa Election Heavy—Newspaper Attacks Club.

Columbus, Ga., November 16.—(Special.)—City politics are warming up in Columbus and in a few days a very lively campaign will be in progress; in fact, it is already on in its preliminary stages.

The voters are now registering at the rate of nearly 100 per day, and up to tonight about 1,200 voters had inscribed their names on the books.

So far there are only two contests, E. P. Dismukes and J. M. Murah, for alderman, in the first ward; and Robert Reid and R. Welland for alderman in the sixth ward.

A lively incident of the campaign is The Enquirer-Sun's attack upon the Commercial Club, a political organization that has controlled city politics for the past two or three years. Every day this week the paper has published articles in its editorial and local columns regarding the club and its alleged actions. The charges against the club are not sensational, but make what Horace Greeley would term "mighty interesting reading." Among other things, The Enquirer-Sun has published what is alleged to be the oath taken by members of the club when they join the organization. It is as follows:

"In the presence of these witnesses, I do most solemnly promise and swear that I will stand to, and abide by, all the by-laws, rules and regulations of this club which are now in force, or which may hereafter be legally enacted and become a part thereof.

"I furthermore promise and swear that I will not reveal any of the secrets or business of this club to anyone whatsoever, except to a member of this club whom I know to be in good standing.

"I furthermore promise and swear that when a candidate for any office is properly and legally indorsed, that I will not only vote for, but will use my best efforts to secure his election.

"To all of these I pledge my sacred word of honor, and should I violate any part of this obligation, I will suffer myself to be EXPELLED from the membership of this club and expect to be OSTRACISED by its members, SO HELP ME GOD."

WILL ELECT ALL AT SAME TIME

Primary at Macon Settles a Question.

Hereafter Mayor and Aldermen Will Be Chosen At Same Time for Concurrent Terms of Two Years. Result of the Election Yesterday.

Macon, Ga., November 16.—(Special.)—By a vote of the people in the white primary, held by the citizens' city executive committee today, it was decided to hereafter have the election of the mayor and aldermen of Macon at the same time for concurrent terms of two years each. Though this change is not in accordance with the wishes of the present mayor and council, it was ratified today with a decided majority.

In the election of aldermen to fill the four seats made vacant in council by those retiring, Alderman Sloan was re-elected, F. A. Guttenberger and Leon Dure went in without opposition, and J. B. Melton won out over Lynwood L. Bright in the contest in the second ward.

Macon Conductor Forces a White Woman to Ride With Negroes.

Macon, Ga., November 16.—(Special.)—Claiming that on October 8 she was instructed to ride in the space set aside for negroes on a South Macon car, Miss Rosa Leveson, a niece of H. Kaplan, has filed a suit for $10,000 with the clerk of the city court.

In the petition of the plaintiff it is claimed that Miss Leveson tried to explain to the conductor that no African blood runs through her veins, but that he was unbelieving and forced her to get off the car at some distance from her residence.

Miss Leveson states that there is not a drop of negro blood in her vein and that she was deeply humiliated by being classed as a negress before a car full of people.

BODY THROWN INTO RIVER.

Negro Woman Murdered In Morgan County—Arrests Made.

Covington, Ga., November 16.—(Special.)—At Cooper's bridge across Little river, near the county line 10 miles east of Covington, Eliza Shy, an aged negro woman, several nights ago was horribly murdered by being shot through the head, throat cut and skull crushed. The body was discovered in the river several hundred yards above the bridge on the following day. An inquest was held, at which sufficient evidence was introduced to hold Jane Lynn, a negro woman, and her two boys, Joe and Henry, whom it is strongly believed were the perpetrators of the crime.

The murdered woman was treasurer of a secret society, from which she had just collected $25 or $30, and robbery was evidently the motive for the killing.

The negroes have been lodged in the Madison jail, the murder having occurred in Morgan county.

Rogers Enters the Race.

Covington, Ga., November 16.—(Special.)—The advent today of Colonel James F. Rogers, county solicitor, and one of the leading attorneys in this section, into the mayoralty race, has added additional interest to the contest. Colonel Rogers has for the last several months been seriously ill and for awhile it was not thought that he could recover, but his health is improving rapidly and the indications are that he has a good many years of usefulness before him. While he is still confined to his room, he expects to be able to get out in time to make it "warm" for his opponents in the present municipal fight.

ITCHING ECZEMA

In July, 1883, I began to break out with Eczema on my head, legs and arms, and began treatment with local doctors, but did not get much relief. They said the disease had become chronic. I then quit them and tried various ointments and soaps for another two years, but as soon as cold weather came I was as bad off as ever, so I finally decided to let medicine alone, and for twelve or thirteen years did nothing towards curing the Eczema, except bathing. This seemed to do about as much good as anything I had tried.

During the time I lost about one-half of my hair. I began S. S. S. doubtful of a cure, because the disease had run so long, but soon discovered your medicine was doing me good, and continued to take it. I used seven bottles, when I was completely cured, not having a single spot on my body, which before was almost completely covered. F. C. NORFOLK.

HIGH CLASS DRUGGISTS AND — OTHERS.

The better class of druggists, everywhere, are men of scientific attainments and high integrity, who devote their lives to the welfare of their fellow men in supplying the best of remedies and purest medicinal agents of known value, in accordance with physicians' prescriptions and scientific formula. Druggists of the better class manufacture many excellent remedies, but always under original or official names and they never sell false brands, or imitation medicines. They are the men to deal with when in need of anything in their line, which usually includes all standard remedies and corresponding adjuncts of a first-class pharmacy and the finest and best of toilet articles and preparations and many useful accessories and remedial appliances. The earning of a fair living, with the satisfaction which arises from a knowledge of the benefits conferred upon their patrons and assistance to the medical profession, is usually their greatest reward for long years of study and many hours of daily toil. They all know that Syrup of Figs is an excellent laxative remedy and that it gives universal satisfaction, and therefore they are selling many millions of bottles annually to the well informed purchasers of the choicest remedies, and they always take pleasure in handing out the genuine article bearing the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package. They know that in cases of colds and headaches attended by biliousness and constipation and of weakness or torpidity of the liver and bowels, arising from irregular habits, indigestion, or over-eating, that there is no other remedy so pleasant, prompt and beneficial in its effects as Syrup of Figs, and they are glad to sell it because it gives universal satisfaction.

Owing to the excellence of Syrup of Figs, the universal satisfaction which it gives and the immense demand for it, imitations have been made, tried and condemned, but there are individual druggists to be found, here and there, who do not maintain the dignity and principles of the profession and whose greed gets the better of their judgment, and who do not hesitate to recommend and try to sell the imitations in order to make a larger profit. Such preparations sometimes have the name—"Syrup of Figs"—or "Fig Syrup" and of some piratical concern, or fictitious fig syrup company, printed on the package, but they never have the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of the package. The imitations should be rejected because they are injurious to the system. In order to sell the imitations they find it necessary to resort to misrepresentation or deception, and whenever a dealer passes off on a customer a preparation under the name of "Syrup of Figs" or "Fig Syrup," which does not bear the full name of the California Fig Syrup Co. printed on the front of the package, he is attempting to deceive and mislead the patron who has been so unfortunate as to enter his establishment, whether it be large or small, for if the dealer resorts to misrepresentation and and deception in one case he will do so with other medicinal agents, and in the filling of physicians' prescriptions, and should be avoided by every one who values health and happiness. Knowing that the great majority of druggists are reliable, we supply the immense demand for our excellent remedy entirely through the druggists, of whom it may be purchased everywhere, in original packages only, at the regular price of fifty cents per bottle, but as exceptions exist it is necessary to inform the public of the facts, in order that all may decline or return any imitation which may be sold to them. If it does not bear the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package, do not hesitate to return the article and to demand the return of your money, and in future go to one of the better class of druggists who will sell you what you wish and the best of everything in his line at reasonable prices.

Weber Pianos

HAVE BEEN SELECTED BY

His Holiness Pius X

FOR HIS PERSONAL USE AND IN THE HOLY APOSTOLIC PALACES

UNDER DATE of May 21, 1904, Pope Pius X issued an official Warrant of Appointment to The Weber Piano Company. The original of the document is on exhibition at the main warerooms of the Company, Aeolian Hall, 362 Fifth Avenue, New York.

The Weber Piano is also combined with The Metrostyle Pianola so ingeniously built into the piano itself that this new creation stands alone and unique among all musical instruments—a piano playable either by the human fingers or by a perforated roll of music.

There is nothing to move up in front of the keyboard.

The Weber Pianola Piano

Is ready for instant playing by either method.

REPLY OF RAILROADS TO COME DECEMBER 6

Rate Conference Adjourned to Meet Again Early in December.

THE BURDEN IS PLACED ON BIRMINGHAM ROADS

Acquiesence of Lines Entering Birmingham Is Said To Be Necessary—Citizens' Committee Takes a Very Hopeful View.

The conference between the committee of seven citizens and the representatives of the railroads regarding the inequality of Atlanta freight rates has adjourned to meet again not later than December 6.

At 7 o'clock last night adjournment was ordered, and the following resolution was given to the press for publication:

"Resolved, That this conference, when it does adjourn, adjourn to meet not later than December 6, and that when the conference again convenes, whether on December 6 or earlier, the raiload representatives will be prepared to make a definite report of the several propositions from the committee appointed by the Atlanta city council."

This resolution was introduced by the railroads early during the session of yesterday afternoon and represents the unanimous action of the roads. It was agreed to by the committee of citizens after some discussion, and under it a motion to adjourn was adopted without opposition.

The "propositions" referred to in the resolution consist of proposals to reduce various freight rates upon articles of numerous classes.

The Railroad Position.

The milk in the cocoanut is that the railroads contend that it will be useless for them to reduce Atlanta freight rates and make them equal to the Birmingham rates unless the Louisville and Nashville, the Frisco System, the Norfolk and Western and other roads agree to accept the reduction, for the reason that these roads can reduce rates to Birmingham and other points and leave Atlanta as she is at present; that is, she will have rates that are low enough, but which are not equal to the rates given other cities.

Representatives of the railroads desire conferring with the roads that reach Birmingham, namely the 'Frisco and the Louisville and Nashville, regarding the western rates, and with the Norfolk and Western, the Pennsylvania, the Baltimore and Ohio, and other roads out of the east, regarding the eastern rates, before answering the request of the Atlanta committee for a reduction of freight rates here.

The railroad men told the committee that unless these roads agree to the reduction and consent to be bound by them the roads entering Atlanta cannot do anything. It was with this statement that the conference adjourned until December 6 or such a date as pleases the railroad men.

Hopeful Feeling Prevails.

Notwithstanding this the committee of citizens was last evening very hopeful that the Atlanta rates would be reduced. The good feeling that prevailed during the meeting and the positions taken by the railroad men, together with the utter lack of anything acrimonious or inharmonious, compelled the committee of citizens to the belief that something would be done for Atlanta by the railroads.

The first meeting of yesterday began at 10 o'clock in the morning and continued until about 1 o'clock in the afternoon. The second session began at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and lasted until 7 o'clock last night.

After the meeting of last night it developed that the discussion during the entire two days had been principally upon the statement of the railroads that it would be impossible for them to reduce rates unless connecting lines agreed. They instanced Birmingham, without mentioning the Louisville and Nashville, and stated that unless the roads which control the business between Atlanta and the Ohio river crossings agree to the reduction and consent not to further reduce Birmingham rates it will be useless to reduce Atlanta rates.

The committee of citizens, it is understood, was in favor of a general reduction in Atlanta rates, while the railroad men were in favor of an equalization of rates—without admitting that rates were unequal—and contended that the only thing Atlanta wanted was a cessation of the supposed discriminations.

Chariman Oglesby Hopeful.

Regarding the results of the meeting, Chairman J. G. Oglesby stated after the meeting had adjourned:

"As I stated after the first days' conference, I am not inclined to be too optimistic about the results of our conferences with the railroads. I will say, however, that they have manifested a desire to correct any rate discriminations that they can be made to believe exist.

"The railroad men told us, however, that it would be impossible for them to give us an answer to our propositions until after they have consulted their connecting lines. This was so manifestly fair that it was agreed to by the citizens' committee. For instance, as Mr. Culp told us in regard to eastern rates from the east, there is not a railroad line in Atlanta that goes into the east. Upon eastern rates, therefore, it will be necessary to consult other railroads, those with which our railroads connect and do business.

"The same conditions prevail regarding the rates from the west. Before our roads can do anything it is necessary for them to consult with the railroads that are factors in making the rates from the west.

"The meetings of both days have been entirely harmonious and pleasant. We have gone fully into the question of freight rates with the railroad men; they have given us a patient hearing and they have under consideration what we have said. I cannot but feel, and I am sure other members of the committee feel the same way, that the railroad men with whom we have talked are going to endeavor to do the best they can about the matter."

Mayor Howell Talks.

Mayor Evan P. Howell was last night informed of what had been done by the conference. He said:

"I am not at all surprised at the position taken by the railroads. It is, of course, impossible for them to simply arbitrarily reduce rates here to those of Birmingham and other cities without first consulting their connecting lines. Neither the Atlanta freight bureau nor the merchants of the city have complained about the freight rates on the ground that they are excessive. The whole contention has been that they were higher than those of other cities, notably Birmingham. I presume that need not be argued because it has been stated time and again.

"Now, if the railroads that were in the conference reduce rates without the assurance that other railroads will abide by the reduction, the Louisville and Nashville and the 'Frisco might reduce Birmingham rates. The result would be that Atlanta would be left in relatively the same position she now occupies and nothing would have been accomplished. The same conditions prevail regarding the rates from the east.

"The cause for the request of the railroads is therefore easily understood. The whole thing is that they cannot act independently of other lines, if anything is to be accomplished for Atlanta. It is also true, from the railroad standpoint, that if Atlanta rates are to be reduced, the same relative reduction should be give Macon, Griffin, Savannah, Augusta and other cities of this section. They will have that problem to work out.

"I sincerely trust that the discriminations against Atlanta are going to cease."

History of the Committee.

The committee that last evening concluded its conference with the railroads was appointed by Mayor Howell. He did so as a result of the unanimous adoption by council of the report of a committee of which Councilman Martin F. Amorous is chairman. This committee, having been appointed for the purpose of investigating the freight rate question, went to work with a view to settling it. Chairman Amorous held several conferences with prominent railroad men, and as a result he found that, if approached properly, they would endeavor to correct discriminations against Atlanta when convinced that such discriminations existed.

Councilman Amorous worked faithfully along this line, and was soon in a position to report the result of his investigations to his committee. The committee met several weeks ago, and in a report to the general council suggested that Mayor Howell appoint a committee of citizens to confer with the railroads regarding the freight discriminations against Atlanta, with the object of reaching an amicable adjustment of the differences.

Of the committee of seven appointed by Mayor Howell, Mr. Oglesby was made chairman, and while the deliberations of the committee have been secret, those who have attended declare that much of the success of the conference is attributable to the skillful management, the tact and the quick but just conclusions of Chairman Oglesby.

BARBER MALTRY TAKES HIS LIFE

Choked Himself to Death With Small Cord Around His Neck.

Columbia, S. C., November 16.—(Special.)—Philip Maltry, the proprietor of Wright's hotel barber shop, was found dead in his bed this morning with a cord around his neck drawn so tight that it almost cut the skin.

Maltry had been running the barber shop at the hotel for several years, and had built up a nice business.

He retired early to his bed, and the family was horrified this morning when it was found that he was dead. A physician was called in at once, and it was necessary to cut the little cord from around his neck, and cut loose the stick that he had twisted the string around his neck with, forming a sort of tourniquet.

Maltry was 51 years of age, and leaves a wife and seven children.

LOOTED BOARDING HOUSE

Slick Thief Makes Two Hauls By Pretending to Engage Board.

A slick thief has been working boarding houses in the city and has so far succeeded in making hauls at two places.

Two days ago a young man engaged board at the house of Mrs. M. E. Wilson, 248 East Hunter street, and the next day he left and a lot of articles belonging to other boarders disappeared with him.

Last night it was reported to the police that a young man went to a boarding house at 47 Trinity avenue and engaged board. Two hours later he left and a pair of shoes, an overcoat, a jacket and some jewelry were immediately missing. He is supposed to be the same thief who stole from Mrs. Wilson at 248 Hunter street.

The police have a description of the man and are looking for him.

HILL SUICIDED WITH LAUDANUM

White Drayman, of Lavonia, Swallows Ounce and Half of Poison.

Lavonia, Ga., November 16.—(Special.)—P. Y. Hill, a white drayman of this place, died last night as the result of an ounce and a half dose of laudanum, taken shortly before noon yesterday with suicidal intent. He left home yesterday morning threatening to kill himself, and when he returned he swallowed the contents of a small phial, called his children to him and bade them goodby. He lay down on the bed and instructed his wife not to throw cold water on him, nor to allow any one else to do so, and when to sleep.

He was never aroused from the stupor. Domestic troubles is assigned as the cause.

NURSES RECEIVE DIPLOMAS.

Interesting Programme Was Rendered at Baptist Tabernacle Last Night.

The first graduating class of the Baptist Tabernacle infirmary received diplomas last night before a large audience that gathered at the Tabernacle to witness the exercises.

There were four graduates in the class. These represented a larger number who had enlisted at the first, but who during the three years' study and work had either given up or were left by the process of elimination. The young ladies who received diplomas are Miss Stella Taylor, Miss Alva Griner, Miss Mary Attaway and Mrs. Kate Endrers. The first three received full diplomas and the last named a certificate of graduation.

The address of the evening was delivered by Dr. Hubert Royster, dean of the North Carolina Medical university. The subject chosen was "The Ideal Nurse." The speaker said there were four requisites of an ideal nurse, character, conscience, health and tact. "And the greatest of these is character," said the speaker. The address was highly enjoyed by the large assemblage.

After the address Dr. Len G. Broughton, pastor of the Baptist Tabernacle, in a few befitting words, delivered the diplomas.

KIRK GROUND BROKEN WITH SIMPLE CEREMONY

An interested audience gathered at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon to witness the ceremony of breaking ground for the building of All Saints Episcopal church. The congregation has for some time been worshiping in a modest little building at the corner of North avenue and West Peachtree street. This building is set somewhat back from the street and will be used for Sunday school purposes after the erection of the new church building.

The new building will be located near the street upon the same lot, at the corner of North avenue and West Peachtree streets.

The services were jointly conducted by Bishop Nelson, Rev. Albion W. Knight and the Rev. Z. S. Farland, the present rector of All Saints church. The usual short but impressive Episcopal ceremony was carried out, opening with a prayer by Bishop Nelson and closing with the breaking of the dirt.

One of the most impressive scenes during the ceremony was the shoveling of a spade of dirt by Mrs. Nellie Peters so long and honorably connected with the Georgia Episcopal church.

At the close of the religious service Bishop Nelson announced that it was the request of al that Mrs. Peters break the first piece of dirt, and taking the shovel in her hands, this aged and honored daughter of the Episcopal church surprised all by her agility in disposing of the load of dirt upon her shovel.

Following her example, Bishop Nelson also threw out a good shovel of dirt. After him came Rev. Albion Knight, and as his shovel sunk into the soft earth some one in the audience laughingly called out: 'Go down to Cuba, bishop," and the new bishop of the little island enthusiastically joined in the laughter which followed.

Rev. Mr. Farland was the last to throw out a shovel full of dirt. As his spade went into the dirt it struck a rock and for a moment it seemed it would not go deep enough down for him to get a good load on his shovel, while he was still struggling with his spade, Bishop Nelson turned to the audience and said:

"The efforts of Mr. Farland in this instance are certainly symbolical, for it is surely true that he has before him the hardest work of us all."

With a prayer for God's continued blessing, the services ended.

BENTLEY-CRANE.

Augusta, Ga., November 16.—(Special.)—At noon at St. Paul Miss Gertrude Crane and Mr. John Richard Bentley, of Philadelphia, were married. The ceremony was conducted by Dr. Chauncey C. Williams, the rector.

The sister of the bride, Miss Nellie Crane, was maid of honor, and there were only two bridesmaids, Miss Lucy Doughty and Miss Margaret Robertson. The best man was Mr. J. W. DuBois, of Philadelphia, and the ushers were Messrs. John Kirkland, Paul Sledge, John Walker and William Crane, of Augusta.

Following the ceremony at the church the wedding party and invited friends enjoyed a reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Crane, where Mr. and Mrs. Bentley received the congratulations and good wishes of relatives and friends before leaving on their bridal trip, after which they will make their home in Philadelphia.

No Change at Fall River.

Fall River, Mass., November 16.—There was no practical change in the mill situation today. The mills generally started up short handed as on Monday and Tuesday and a number of them continued to run during the forenoon. The manufacturers claim to have made slight gains over the first two days of the week, but these claims are not admitted by the labor leaders.

WEEK OF WORK AT CITY HALL

Committees of Council Are Engaged in Preparing Reports.

Because of the fact that the general council is to meet in regular session next Monday afternoon, all committees of the body are preparing for meetings this week with a view to acting upon the ordinances and resolutions referred to them during the last meeting.

The tax committee, of which Councilman Quillian is chairman, met yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and today three meetings will take place. The first is that of the committee on salaries, of which Alderman Harwell is chairman, scheduled for 10 o'clock this morning. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon both the ordinance committee, of which Councilman Hynds is chairman, and the committee on claims, of which Councilman Terrell is chairman, will meet.

Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock the police committee, Councilman Hilburn chairman, will be called to order, and at 3 o'clock in the afternoon the committee on streets, of which Alderman W. M. Terry is chairman, will assemble. At 5 o'clock in the afternoon the regular session of the board of health, Dr. C. F. Benson president, will take place.

The only meeting for Saturday morning so far announced is that of the committee on sewers, Councilman Breitenbucher chairman, which is called for 10 o'clock in the morning. It is probable that Alderman Inman will issue a call for a meeting of the finance committee for Saturday morning, as that is the regular day for that committee to assemble.

Fi. Fas. Were Discussed.

Practically the only matter of general interest before the tax committee during the session of yesterday afternoon was the report of W. D. Greene, street improvement collector, upon a number of fi. fas. against property in Atlanta for sewer assessments, street paving and curbing and sidewalks. All of these fi. fas. were referred to City Attorney Mayson for an opinion regarding the legality of making a levy and proceeding to a sale under them.

It appears that these old fi. fas. have been in the possession of the city for many years. Some of them date back into the 80's. At the request of the tax committee, Mr. Greene began work on these old fi. fas. Some of them he has collected upon and others he has referred to the tax committee for action. It is these that were yesterday referred to the city attorney for an opinion regarding the legality of making levies for the city.

New Street Committeeman.

Councilman Peters, councilman from the sixth ward and aldermanic nominee from the eighth ward, has filed with City Clerk Campbell an ordinance which he will introduce during the next session of the general council.

This ordinance amends the ordinance creating the street committee by providing that it shall consist of eight members instead of seven. This is done in order to allow the next mayor to appoint a member from the eighth ward upon the committee.

Mayor Receives Invitation.

Mayor Evan P. Howell yesterday received an invitation from the officers of the Georgia Society of New York to attend the third annual dinner of the organization at the Waldorf-Astoria on the evening of December 3.

Because of the fact that Mayor Howell will be busily engaged in closing his splendid administration as mayor of Atlanta, it will be impossible for him to attend the banquet.

Invited By Unity Club.

The Unity Club, which is composed of the ministers of various creeds in Atlanta, has extended Mayor Howell an invitation to attend the Thanksgiving exercises in the Jewish temple on Thanksgiving evening and deliver an address upon that occasion.

Mayor Howell will accept the invitation. Other prominent men will also be present and will make talks. This public meeting, under the auspices of the Unity Club, will be the same character of Thanksgiving service that was held in the temple last year.

"But soon after I began to take Wine of Cardui I could see that I was beginning to get back my strength."

That is the comment Mrs. Seymour makes.

If you are sick you can take Wine of Cardui and secure health and strength. If other medicines and other treatment have failed, that will make no difference. Few women have taken Wine of Cardui at first. By far the greater number of Wine of Cardui cures are women who could not secure relief elsewhere.

Women who take Wine of Cardui at first have very little to tell of suffering. There is nothing to tell because Wine of Cardui cures them quickly. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

Nearly all women need also a 25c. package of Thedford's Black Draught.

WINE OF CARDUI

No. 48 Straight St., GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

I am pleased to endorse Wine of Cardui as I found it so beneficial to restore my strength after my baby was born. I could not seem to get well enough to be up and able to do my work, and as I had been in bed for six weeks this was rather serious, but soon after I began to use Wine of Cardui I could see that I was beginning to get back my strength. In another week I was able to sit up most of the day and in a month I was able to be up and do most of my work. I think it is splendid medicine for a woman and can certainly give it highest praise.

LET CHRISTIAN ATLANTA MAKE ANSWER!

It is up to Christian Atlanta to answer the doubters!

What Dr. C. J. Harris, of the Universalist church, said in his Atlanta pulpit Sunday morning concerning the expenditure of a considerable sum of money for the organization and conduct of the recent great revival under the auspices of the Atlanta Business Men's Gospel Union, has not only been widely commented upon locally, but throughout Georgia.

The comments are various, but the majority view seems to accord with the sentiments expressed in these columns yesterday. A revival that is a true outpouring of the Holy Spirit will inspire practical charity, increasing rather than diminishing the sum that would ordinarily be spent by the community in relieving want and destitution. That is The Constitution's position and we think it is entirely tenable.

Among outside comments, that of The Albany Herald is especially forceful, as can be judged by the following excerpt:

> The Christianity of warm clothes a nd nourishing food carries ten thousand times further than the brand of Christianity which finds expression in ostentatious worship in fashionable churches and the preaching of deeply impressive sermons by eloquent theologians. The secular world is very critical of Christianity, and does not form its opinions from the outside or inside of churches, the length of a preacher's coattails or the solemn cast of countenance of faithful churchgoers. It looks deeper, and if Christian people were as faithful in the alleys of our cities where poverty is no stranger; on the highways where iniquity openly walks, and in the hovels of vice where remorse prays without the cheering presence of hope to point to better things—if in these places Christian people were seen as often as in our churches, there would be less need for enlarged prisons, additional criminal courts and houses of reform. The veneer on Christianity is about as thick as the skin on a flea—which is equivalent to saying that it hides nothing from those who want to see below the surface.

The Constitution believes in "the Christianity of warm clothes and nourishing food"—so do the churches—so does everybody. Men do not live by physical bread alone, nor do they live by spiritual bread alone. The right kind of a heart toward God must be fed by the red corpuscles of a properly nourished body. The moral province of Christianity does not stop short with mansions in the sky; it has to do with earthly tenements, and more often tenement houses. The true Christian is his brother's keeper in a more binding sense than through preachments. The homeless Nazarene who founded this divine faith did not tramp the dusty highways of Judea offering the hungry a spiritual stone. He ministered to the sick and suffering with genuine human concern and infinite pity. He bade his hearers give away their coats and their cloaks, also. "Sell all that thou hast and give to the poor, then come follow Me!" The supreme test in His inspired vision of judgment ended with this significant declaration: "Inasmuch as ye have done it to the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto Me."

"The least of these!" God knows, the humble streets and alleys of the Christian city of Atlanta have many such! Some of them may, Lazarus-like, have reached out their gaunt hands for the crumbs of divine truth that fell from the spiritual table of the recent great revival in our city, and the while their physical stomachs may have been empty. More of them, doubtless, deemed their poor raiment unfit for the house of prayer and did not venture from the familiar haunts of poverty. Perhaps, the earnest-faced men and women who listened with rapt spirit to the eloquent words of the stranger evangelists were too well nourished and too well clad to have, in everyday life, much in common with "the least of these" of the urban highways and hedges.

Be this as it may, Christianity does not mean to shut its eyes for delectable visions of the hereafter and at the same time shut out "the submerged tenth" from its visual range.

Now let the good people of Atlanta who freely contributed $7,500 to organize and conduct the recent great revival in His name show that Christianity and charity go hand in hand together! Let the city show its physical Christianity in such substantial fashion on next Thanksgiving day and next Christmas!

To be explicit, let all doubters be shown that it is an easy matter for Christian Atlanta to raise an equal sum—$7,500—to be given to Atlanta's poor and needy, regardless of race, color or previous condition of worthiness! That old proviso of "worthy" as the inevitable adjective of "poor" has no place in the Christian vocabulary.

The Constitution, knowing the heart of Atlanta as it does, believes the Business Men's Gospel Union will unhesitatingly volunteer to duplicate the collections for the revival and devote every dollar of the fund to local charity and the brightening of hundreds of poor homes in the city on Thanksgiving day and Christmas. We have no doubt as to what the public response will be to that kind of a call.

Thanksgiving day is at hand! The generality of Atlantans will, in celebration of the glad occasion, sit down to tables crowded with the traditional turkey and cranberry sauce and other good edibles associated with that day of table bounty and good cheer. Why not have a universal Thanksgiving dinner in Atlanta this year? Otherwise, there may be homes within our municipal borders where joy comes not and hunger—real hunger—is but half appeased with frugal fare. Why not introduce into such homes the traditional Thanksgiving turkey and cranberry sauce?

On Christmas morning the generality of Atlantans will enter into the blythe spirit of the Bethlehem nativity when they see their little ones, barefooted and in their night gowns, pull their well-filled stockings down from the mantelpiece and distribute their contents about in high glee.

There are many of Christ's little ones in the city of Atlanta who will hang up no stockings Christmas eve if the filling of them is left to the parental Santa Claus. Why not make these unhappy children of the poor as happy as our own on Christmas morning?

Why not have a universal Christmas in Atlanta this year?

Let Christian Atlanta see to it!

The Constitution makes this suggestion in support of its contention that the effect of the late revival will be to make Atlanta infinitely more charitable than would normally have been the case had no revival been held.

We hold that the hearts of our people have been quickened to good works—practical Christian works—by the recent great outpouring of the Holy Spirit with which this goodly community was blessed. So far from charity being a sufferer from the necessary expenditure to have such a revival in Atlanta, we believe charity will be distinctly a beneficiary.

Let us put it to the proof!

Let the good Christian people who so generously contributed to the revival by purse and spirit see to it that as large a sum is raised for charity.

It can be easily done!

Let Christian Atlanta do it, and thus answer the doubters!

Kuroki Not Dead.

The rumor that General Kuroki, the brilliant leader of the Japanese forces in Korea and Manchuria, had met his death on the field during the engagement of October 4 is denied.

From Japanese headquarters, the most reliable source of information throughout the war, the rumor has been officially put at rest, and may, therefore, be considered simply as a Russian strategem.

Not only in the present Titanic struggle in the east has this famous warrior disclosed the qualities of military prowess, tactical skill and personal fortitude, but he has been revered by the Japanese people for many years, having inherited from military forefathers the taste for military life and having measured up to the highest standard of a man and of a soldier in the war with China ten years ago, when he was selected by Marshal Oyama to command the right wing of the Japanese army in the advance on Wei-hai-wei.

In the present struggle with the forces of the czar, the appointment of Kuroki to lead the troops in Korea and Manchuria met with immense popular approval. In his discharge of this trying duty he justified to the fullest degree the great confidence imposed in him by his ruler and his people, and his record in the field is one of almost continual success. He has advanced across the almost impregnable summits of obstructing mountains, driving the enemy before him and throughout the terrific seven days' battle of Liao-Yang, in the early part of September, his conduct and that of the command under him was such as to win the admiration of the world and stand out as truly remarkable in military history. It will be recalled that his detour from Anping to cut off the Russian forces from the railroad would have been successful but for the masterful retreat of Kuropatkin.

Baron Kuroki is 62 years of age and has embraced the Christian religion Reports from Georgia missionaries formerly residing in Japan, state that the baron is a member of the Presbyterian church, which has many adherents among the subjects of the little emperor.

The continuance of General Kuroki at the head of his forces is a reasonably safe assurance that the victory which has met his arms in the past will be continued in the future, to the glory of the Japanese forces.

The Public Schools.

The paper by Miss Adele Marie Shaw in the current World's Work, entitled "How Successful Are the Public Schools?" will be read with exceptional interest, not alone by educators, but by all friends and patrons of the public schools of the land. Miss Shaw has been carefully examining the methods of the schools of many states of the union, giving her conclusions in a most interesting series of articles for the World's Work. The present article is her summing up of the whole question.

Among other things, Miss Shaw says:

> No one who knows the public schools denies that the teachers are overworked and underpaid. They should receive higher salaries. At the same time, some normal schools that I have visited should put less into note-books and more into trained intellect and character, and neither bribery, "pull," nor mere "marks" should elect any man or woman to a teaching position. All these things have been efficacious in the past, and one or the other is still a power in most places. Good salaries should be paid to teachers, but they should be earned. No man or woman of cheap and superficial ideals can give an equivalent of a good salary. A teacher whose language still has traces of dialect and whose fist is ready for the slow or daring pupil, may have a 99-per-cent knowledge of wood-carving or geagraphy, and yet be an unfit teacher.

Miss Shaw evidently thinks there is wide room for improvement in the character and conduct of school boards. She says:

> Compared with the best, how do the majority of school authorities stand? The boards of education know something about wallpaper, about coal, about the making of rubber hose. Some of them use that knowledge in the honest conduct of the school business, some misuse it at the expense of the public. I have found few places where even such school business as the purchase and distribution of supplies was well conducted. Grocers who carried on their business in the fashion of these "boards" would be despised as dishonest, careless, or incompetent. The position of board members demands time, often much labor, and there is seldom a salary attached. It is a great deal to expect that they will give the time and labor without an equivalent. Granting that the equivalent is more often political preferment than money, the boards are still unequal to their task. I have come across instance after instance where good educators and disinterested men were crowded off the school board and replaced by politicians of an unworthy class.

Miss Shaw seems to think that the greatest obstacle to the efficiency of our public school system lies in popular ignorance concerning or indifference "to the necessity of securing and paying for the best teaching:"

> Modern fads, when they are properly taught, are merely common sense in the school room, the use of material, hitherto wasted, by which children are given the practical control of their powers. They cost effort, time, money. That is the reason why one child has a good education in American public schools for ten thousand that have a poor education Our very attempts to improve the schools have often the opposite effect. Instead of enfranchising women teachers and taking them out of the power of the politicians, we are putting in more men, because they are men. The best schools must employ the best candidate, man or woman. Instead of training brain and hand to their best efficiency, we are in some places arbitrarily fitting boys for this and girls for that. The result is a poorer equipment for work, a shallower attitude toward life. It is an ignorant man who is satisfied with the public school system of the United States; and a very ignorant man who is not proud of it.

We are glad to observe that last lone note of optimism. The public schools are not all that they might be, but their defects are chiefly chargeable to an insufficient school fund. With more money, which they will obtain in the natural evolution of popular education in the United States, improvements now impossible or difficult of attainment will be accomplished, and a higher standard reached all along the line.

I reckon we're feelin' thankful—I reckon we ought to be,
Fer the good we've had to the Present—fer the future we can't see;
Fer things that we call our blessings—fer the sorrows an' the sighs:
But fer all the preachin' an' prayin', there's a mist there, 'round the eyes!

II.

Yes, I reckon we're feelin' thankful fer the life an' light we know—
Fer the little love that's left us, an' the love that's under the snow;
Fer the hope the last will greet us somewhere on a golden shore,
But in lonesome winter shadows we sigh fer it more an' more!

III.

Some of us are divided—some have drifted away;
An' the stars are not so beautiful:—there's less light in the day!
There's a roof that gives us shelter—a table with plenty spread,
But the vacant chairs bring heartache when we break our daily bread!

IV.

But I reckon we're feelin' thankful, on the hills—in the flowerless dells,
For the little light that's left us—for the music of the bells;
An' maybe we'll all see clearer when the clouds are swept away,
An' the weary winter is no more, an' we reach eternal May.

SAYS IT WILL SOLVE PROBLEM

Vice Chairman Jack J. Spalding, of the State Democratic Executive Committee, Sends the Following Interesting Communication to The Constitution.

Editor Constitution: I have read with a great deal of interest the communication of your "Northern Republican in the Ranks," and your editorial, "As the South Sees It," in The Constitution of the 15th instant.

In my opinion, you touch upon the kernel of the situation in the following extract from your editorial:

> There are many southerners—perhaps most of them—who feel that if reduced representation in congress is to be the payment for the elimination of the race issue as a disturbing factor, the price paid for the benefits to accrue would be reasonable indeed—so long as such representation is based upon the list of qualified voters, north and south alike—containing the names of citizens about whose right to enjoy the franchise there can be no possible doubt.

The individuals, or people, are worst fooled who fool themselves. We are confronted with the pitiful spectacle of the old Confederate States alone lined up on one side against all the others in the union on the other side. This presents a political alignment of the country on sectional lines, identical with the military alignment we had in the war. The cause is unquestionably the race question.

The negro has not, will not, and ought not, to ever dominate the southern country. It is impossible to subject intelligence and property to the dominion of ignorance and poverty. While this is true as to local affairs, it produces, under existing conditions, a hopeless isolation in national politics. There can be no dispute as to the situation, nor the cause of it. We have alone to deal with the remedy.

The remedy lies alone, in my judgment, in the legal disfranchisement of the negro. The overshadowing necessity which causes Georgia to disfranchise by means of white primaries and the solidarity of the white people, and in other states by the subterfuge of grandfather clauses and like temporary devices in their constitutions, must necessarily perpetuate the present condition and situation, both north and south. The negro problem is necessarily geographical to the south.

The action of the south therefore assumes a sectional character, and this gives reason why the balance of the country, as the other section, consolidates its vote against the south.

As intimated in your editorial, the south can well afford to pay the price of having its representation in congress and in the electoral college cut down, in order to secure the repeal of the fifteenth amendment of the federal constitution, which would allow each state to grant or withhold the franchise to the negro, as its

With the fifteenth amendment repealed it would leave each state to determine for itself whether it could afford to pay this price or not. It would also leave the negro free either to stay in the states which would disfranchise him, or, if he preferred the privilege of voting to the superior opportunities for work furnished in the south, he might remove to another state, which did not see fit to disfranchise him. The state that disfranchises him would thus reduce her representation, and the state to which he removed would thus increase its representation.

The reduction of its representation can make no difference whatever to anybody in the south, except a few officeholders. We are now in a helpless minority, without the possibility of escape therefrom under existing conditions. The fact that our minority is a little more, or a little less, makes no difference whatever.

In my judgment, one of the greatest possible incentives that could move the south to pay the price suggested, would be that the disfranchisement of the negro by solving the race problem will do more to put an end to criminal assaults upon our white women than anything else could possibly do.

I have recently discussed the proposition of a repeal of the fifteenth amendment as the true solution of the race problem, with at least 100 inelligent men, both republican and democrats, and every single one of them agrees that this is the true remedy. They all, however, incline to the opinion that it cannot be done. About one-half say that the north from sentimental reasons would not permit it, and the other half that the politicians of the south will oppose it.

I disagree with both these reasons and believe that it is to our true interest to start on a right foundation, and to quit temporizing and fooling ourselves about this race question.

If the south will honestly go to the north with a proposition to disfranchise and reduce representation, I believe they will be met in a spirit of fairness and conciliation that will result in our getting relief.

The trouble is that the north thinks we are disfranchising the negro while holding on to the representation that his enumeration as a voter gives us. This solidifies them against us. The proposition of reducing representation would put us in the position of offering to pay the price for what we ask, and would at the same time offer to the north the inducement of a greater proportion of representation in the government.

It is up to the south to deal frankly and honestly with this overshadowing question.

RAILROADS OWN THE CROSSING

The Cemetery Crossing Can Be Blocked With Cars.

The police department has been notified by the city engineer that the city has no control over the crossing leading from Decatur street to Oakland cemetery and that the railroads can place any obstruction over it on the crossing they may see fit.

The question was brought to the attention of the police authorities by numerous complaints recently made by citizens of the railroads blocking the crossing with freight cars. The complaints became so urgent and frequent that Captain Jennings, of the day police watch, took the matter in hand after conferring with the chief of police and Sergeant Beavers was instructed to investigate and report. The sergeant ascertained that the railroads were blocking the crossing every day so that people could not pass. The city engineer was asked concerning the crossing, and yesterday morning he informed Sergeant Beavers that he could do nothing in the matter, as the crossing was the property of the railroads and not of the city

This will be surprising news to a great many citizens, for the cemetry crossing, as it is known, from Decatur street has been in use for at, least, twenty-five years. People living in the northeast section of the city having occasion to visit the cemetery, have always used the crossing, and it was believed to be as public as any street in the city.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Timely Advice.

Editor Constitution: Your editorial in The Constitution of this morning under the heading, "Holding for 12c Cotton," is a timely one. The Constitution has done a great work in the past, in inducing southern farmers to market their crops slowly, and the writer firmly believes that the present situation offers a superb opportunity for more work of this kind. The difficulty is to make the arguments so strong that the farmer will be impressed by them and take heed. Possibly the only way of accomplishing this is by what Napoleon called "The eloquence of repetition."

BURGLAR HELD ON $1,000 BOND

Trial of Negro Who Was Caught by Slip of Paper.

Roy Broadnax, the negro burglar who was caught by a coal yard memorandum, which he dropped while burglarizing a Whitehall street residence, was arraigned in the recorder's court yesterday afternoon and sent to the Tower in default of a $1,000 band.

Broadnax entered the residence of A. O. Vaughan, 524 Whitehall street, Tuesday night, while the family were away from home, and, after securing a pistol, a gold ring and $6 in cash, made his escape. He was in the house when Mr. Vaughan's family returned home, about 11 o'clock, after having been out to spend the evening with friends. The negro broke open a window, and, while doing so, had his hat knocked off. In his hat was a slip of paper, such as is used by coal dealers when delivering coal, and it bore the name of W. M. Pool, coal and wood dealer. Officers Cooper, Blackstone, Willey and Hardaway carried the slip of paper to Mr. Pool's residence, and he informed them who the negro was to whom the paper had been given. The officers found Broadnax just as he returned home, and he had the articles which had been stolen from Mr. Vaughan's residence.

The negro at first said another negro had committed the burglary, but he failed to explain about the tell-tale slip of paper by which he was caught.

As Broadnax was heavily armed when arested, the officers believe he would have committed murder if Mr. Vaughan's family had come near him in the house. The escape was a narrow one, as the negro had barely had time to get away when Mrs. Vaughan and her children returned.

GEORGE P. WRIGHT IS DEAD.

Deceased Was a Member of the Beck and Gregg Hardware Company.

George P. Wright, after an illness of five months, died at 4 o'clock yesterday morning at his residence, 630 South Pryor street.

Mr. Wright was a prominent business man of this city, having been manager of the builders' department of the Beck & Gregg Hardware Company. Coming here from Houston, Tex., several years ago, he had been an important figure in business circles ever since.

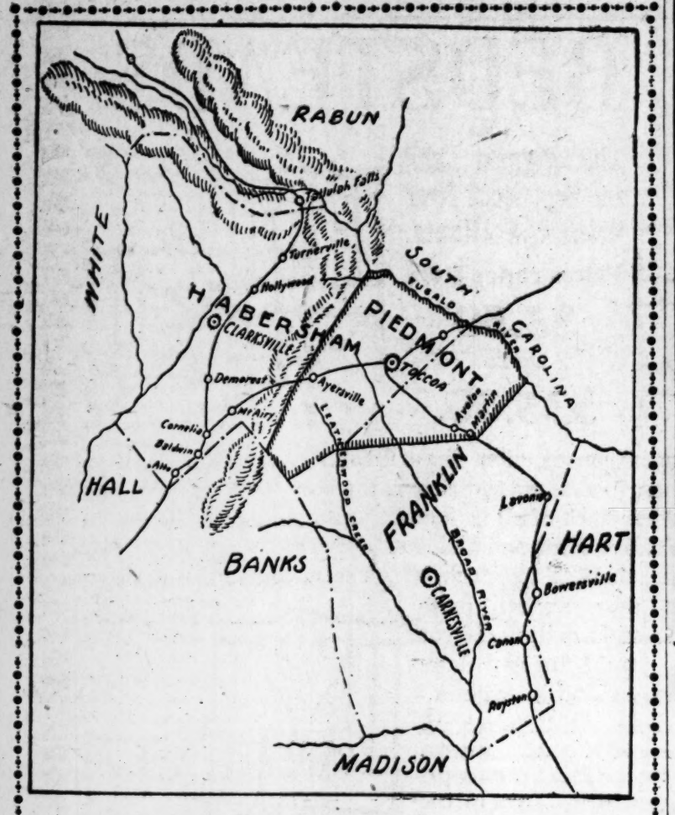
The deceased was equally as well known in religious circles. He was clerk of the board of elders of the Pryor Street Presbyterian church and superintendent of the Sunday school

A man whose thought was ever of others, who never forgot his duty to man or God, he made a host of friends and admirers, who with genuine and profound regret will learn the news of his sad and untimely death.

Funeral services were conducted at the residence at 7:30 o'clock last night, Rev. H. C. Hammond officiating. This morning at 7:40 o'clock the body will be taken to Newbury, S. C., for interment.

The surviving members of the family are his wife and three children. The deceased was 39 years old.

CITIZENS OF TOCCOA, GA. WORKING FOR NEW COUNTY



The Proposed County of Piedmont To Be Formed Out of the Counties of Franklin and Habersham.

THERE is great interest in Toccoa, Ga., and Toccoa district in the movement for a new county to be composed of parts of Habersham and Franklin counties. A committee has been appointed and is hard at work. So far the committee has met with great encouragement and believes that its efforts will meet with success. If the new county is secured, it is proposed to name it Piedmont county.

Editor A. H. Mecklin, of The Toccoa Record, Habersham county, who has taken an active part in the work for the new county, was in Atlanta yesterday, and was asked how the county movement was progressing in Toccoa.

"All right," replied Editor Mecklin. "Our people are satisfied that a new county is needed, and they are working for it. Any number of reasons might be assigned why we should have a new county. Our county, especially that section of it adjoining Toccoa, like the south Georgia counties, has greatly increased in population during the past ten or fifteen years, so much so, indeed, that it is estimated that our district pays nearly half of the taxes of the entire county. The south Georgia counties are asking for new counties because of the greatly increased population. We make the same claim. The population of our section has trebled in the last ten years. We are 16 miles from the county seat, and Toccoa mountain, a mean, rocky hill 2,500 feet high, lies between us and our county seat. We are getting tired of climbing this mountain. Our own in Franklin county, adjoining us, from which county we want to get some area, the people have the same complaint—it is 15 miles or more to Carnesville, the county seat, and the roads are 15 feet deep in mud during the winter. The people in that county are really clamoring for a new county because they want to get rid of so much mud and long riding to attend to their court house business.

"Then we think we are entitled to a new county because we have such an immense population. The new county proposed will have in the neighborhood of 15,000 population—there are several counties in the state with less. We think we have a good new county case because we are the principal tax payers of Habersham county. I am not sure about this, but I think Toccoa and Toccoa district pay nearly half of the taxes of the entire county. We think that these facts give us the same grounds for asking for a new county that the south Georgia counties have, where the cases are identical."

To Be Named "Piedmont."

Editor Mecklin says the general opinion is that the proposed county, should it be permitted, will be named Piedmont.

"We have a local committee," said Mr. Mecklin, "who are working hard for the new county. This committee has such men upon it as Judge J. B. Jones, one of the leading lawyers of north Georgia, and who is doing a great deal to further the movement. Judge Jones is ably assisted by Colonel Barrett, Dr. Jeff Davis, Selp Simpson and Dr. Edge, who is treasurer of the local new county organization.

"There is not a more populous section," said Editor Mecklin, "in north Georgia than Toccoa and the tributary country. We are forging ahead in all lines. We have two strong cotton mills, two banks, two or three manufacturing concerns, and we are recognized by all our neighbors as being the hustlers of this section. They agree with our people that we should have a new county, and we agree with ourselves that we are going to have one. Of course we may not have as good a case as some of the south Georgia counties, which cover a great deal more area, but in every other regard our case is identical with that of our south Georgia friends, who inaugurated the new county movement, and with whom we have been actively cooperating. A glance at the map of the proposed Piedmont county will show that we will have a very decent, respectable area. Yes, you may say that everybody up our way is in favor of the Piedmont county."

W. M. Venable, secretary and treasurer of the Georgia Rural Letter Carriers' Association, has addressed an open letter to the rural letter carriers of Georgia in which he urges them to enter the Rural Letter Carriers' Association. In this circular Mr. Venable gives fully the benefits to be derived from affiliating with the national organization.

W. M. Venable is one of the most prominent officers of the Rural Letter Carriers' Association, and has been an indefatigable worker for the best interests of the organization. His letter is sure to prove of interest to the rural letter carriers of Georgia. In full it follows:

"Rural Free Delivery Carriers of Georgia: Are you satisfied with your present salary? If so, you are not fit for the rural free delivery service. If not, there is one chance for you to better your condition. How's that? you say. It is this. Organize. In organization lies our only hope—the hope of a better service for the patrons of the rufal free delivery service, for the United States government. In unity there is strength. We can never hope for favorable legislation through any other channel than through the united effort of the carriers as a whole. How can we get this concerted action except through our national association? We could have no national association if it was not for the state associations. The state likewise depends on the counties for their success.

"Now, carriers, why do you hesitate for a single day to join the R. F. D. association? We want every carrier in the state to become a member by July 4, 1905. Some will say, 'I will just wait and let the others work for the raise. I will get it anyway.' Now, if that is the kind of carrier you are, we don't want you. What we want is a body of men who will work and work with a vim. I do not believe there are twenty-five carriers in the state, and there are nine hundred, who would be willing to stand back and reap the benefit of the labors of others. If they were not willing to work they would not be rural carriers. Another thing: We want Georgia, the Empire tSate of the South, to have one of the strongest associations of any state in the union. Remember that Georgia will not be third, neither second, but first.

"I said in the beginning of my letter. The man who is satisfied with the present salary was not fit for the rural free delivery service. I will state my reason for saying that. Understand, I do not say we should not appreciate what has already been done, for we should and do, but why should we, simply because we are working for the government, be expected to work for just a living and barely a living in some cases? Now, any man who is willing to work for simply a living when he earns more is not the kind of man to make the rural free delivery service a success. He will not care to put enough time and effort in his work to advance the cause, and consequently will injure the service more or less. Some of us have children to raise and educate. Can we raise these children so they will make the class of citizens the United States would like best to have? No, we cannot. Are we to spend the best adys of our lives in service of the government and arrive at old age with nothing to support and clothe our feeble bodies? And we well know that the exposure we undergo will wear out the strongest constitution. Can any man see justice in this? One of the officials at Washington, D. C., has said that there was plenty of men ready to carry the mail at present salary. Granted there is. What kind or class of men are they? If they be fitted with intelligence, integrity and honesty, do they understand the duties and hardships they would have to perform and undergo? I know they do not. If the department was to turn every carrier off today, in less than two years' time they would have the same proposition to face. The rural free delivery service can never be a success in its broadest sense until it is made worth while for a man to strive to be the best carrier he possibly can, because he realizes that he holds a position which is worth something more than a living. The government must have a higher standard of service than the just a living man will give.

'Now, carriers, rally around the standard, and let your battle cry be: Better pay for the rural free delivery carriers and a better and higher standard of service for the patrons and government. Join the state association at once; organize your counties and let's pull together as one mighty power for the betterment of the rural free delivery carriers and service. Respectfully,

"W. M. VENABLE,
"Secretary and Treasurer of Georgia."

STATE GOSSIP CAUGHT IN CAPITOL CORRIDORS

Prison Commission Is Considering Pardon of Mamie DeCris—German Consul Calls at Capitol. Newell Has a New Assistant.

SHALL Mamie DeCris, the Savannah "diamond queen," whose presence in the state penitentiary created considerable of a stir as the result of a flogging administered by one of the deputy wardens, be granted a pardon on the eve of the expiration of her sentence?

This is a question that now confronts the prison commission and the members of that body are giving it careful consideration. The term of Mamie DeCris expires on Monday, November 21. She has, therefore, only four more days to remain at the state prison farm. A pardon could do her no good, therefore, so far as cutting short her term of service is concerned, for if it were granted she would be released but a day before the end of her term.

There are other considerations, therefore, that will prompt the commission, should it decide to grant the pardon. While the woman has not asked directly for a pardon, she has practically done so in a letter to the commission in which she states she has profited much by her term of imprisonment and it is her desire now to live an upright and an honest life. She wishes to go forth into the world again with as little handicap as possible.

The only assistance which the state can render her in this direction is to grant her a pardon, thus removing from her the brand of a felon. Would that be an incentive, and aid to her in carrying out her good resolutions, or would it be dangerous to place in the hands of a criminal an instrument which might possibly be of some assistance should she return to crime? This is the difficult problem which confronts the commission in its conderstion of the case. On the one hand is simply the question of mercy unqualified by consideration of what the future may have in store; on the other, a question of justice, not alone to the woman, but also to society.

The commission will give the matter careful consideration before taking definite action, but will probably decide the matter one way or another today or tomorrow.

Visit From German Consul.

Several of the capitol officials were honored yesterday by a visit from the German consul, Dr. Erich Zoepffel-Quellenstein, and his secretary, M. Noculak.

When several of the newspaper men asked Secretary of State Phil Cook yesterday if he had any news of sufficient importance to present to the public he proudly pointed to the two cards lying upon his desk.

"The German consul and his secretary have just called," he said, "and the visit, though brief, was quite a pleasant one."

The newspaper men soon reached the department of agriculture.

"Any news?" was the colloquial inquiry.

Captain R. F. Wright, assistant commissioner, arose from his desk and treading softly with mysterious movement, said:

'Come this way."

Cautiously leading the newspaper men across the corridor and through the outside room into Commissioner Stevens' office, he pointed with great pride to two cards upon the commissioner's desk.

They were the cards of Dr. Quellenstein and Herr Noculak.

"The German consul and his secretary were just in here," he said, "and the visit, though brief, was a delightful one."

The newspaper men tried another office.

"What have you got for us today?" was the form of inquiry.

Proudly the official pointed to two cards lying upon his desk.

"The German consul and his secretary have just,"—but the reporters had fled and did not hear the rest of the reply; visions of column stories had vanished all too soon.

Seriously Dr. Quellenstein and his secretary have made a splendid impression on the officials at the state house and there is nothing there which they cannot have if it is in the power of the state officials to supply it.

Will Be Mustered Out.

Company I, of the Fourth infantry regiment, located at Bainbridge, in Decatur county, and known as the Bainbridge Independents, has been ordered mustered out of the state service by command of the governor for inefficiency.

Some days ago Inspector General W. G. Obear went to Bainbridge for the purpose of inspecting company I, which had been put on probation. The company failed to show up for inspection and one of the officers who was seen by Colonel Obear stated that he did not know what the trouble was. The Bainbridge company was, thereupon, given five days in which to show cause why it should not be mustered out of the state service. Yesterday a letter was received from First Lieutenant T. B. Grimmer, commanding the company, saying he knew of no reason why it should not be mustered out. The order was consequently signed yesterday.

Inspector General Obear has been ordered to muster into the state service a new company of infantry at Cordele, in Dooly county, on Monday next, November 21. It is probable this company will be assigned to the Fourth infantry regiment, taking the place of the Bainbridge company, though this has not yet been definitely decided.

The resignation of Captain Clarence S. Conner at, Jr., adjutant of the First cavalry regiment, has been accepted. Captain Conner at having removed from the state. No successor has yet been chosen.

Assistant Entomologist.

The state entomological board has elected a second assistant to the state entomologist, Wilmon Newell, who will, after January 1 next, have two assistants Professor R. I. Smith being retained in the service.

The new assistant, who will report for duty January 1 next, is Professor A. C. Lewis, of College Station, Tex. Mr. Lewis is a graduate of the Oklahoma College of Agriculture, and since taking his degree has had considerable experience, particularly in the study of cotton insects and diseases. He has made a specialty of the study of the boll weevil, and his services will undoubtedly be of much value to the cotton planters of the state. Mr. Lewis comes very highly recommended.

Medals For Good Shots.

Announcement was made at the meeting of the Atlanta Rifle Association that Colonel Clifford L. Anderson, commanding the Fifth infantry regiment, would give a medal valued at $25, to be awarded to the company in the Fifth regiment making the highest average in rifle practice during the shooting season next year. The medal, it is said, will be worn by the member of the company making the highest individual average.

In addition to the foregoing it is expected a majors' medal will also be offered. It is understood this medal will be given by Majors Shearer, Williamson and Pomeroy, of the Fifth, to be awarded to the member of the regiment making the highest average on the ranges during the shooting season.

The association expects to receive several other valuable trophies to be contested for on the ranges

A constitution and by-laws were adopted at the meeting and preliminary preparations were made looking toward permanent organization the first of next year.

The committee on rifle range reported that it had examined several sites, but had not yet found anything suitable. The committee was continued with the request to press its efforts in this direction.

Compliment to Cavalry.

The Georgia cavalrymen who took part in the army maneuvers at Manassas are proud of the compliment that has been paid them by Colonel Charles Morton, U. S. A., who had command of the cavalry division on the occasion of the "third battle of Manassas."

Major J. S. Dozier, of Atlanta, was in command of the cavalry squadron that went from Georgia. No complaints of depredations or any other unbecoming conduct on the part of the Georgia cavalry have been heard from any source.

Major Dozier has received the following letter from Colonel Morton, and he wants the people of the state to know how the work of the cavalry was appreciated.

Headquarters Divisional Cavalry, Maneuver Camp, No. 2, Thoroughfare, Va., September 11, 1904.—To the Officers and Men of the Divisional Cavalary: The commander of the maneuver corps has ordered the troops composing the corps to their respective home stations and states. As commander of the divisional cavalry of the second division I desire to express, before the separation of the cavalry troops, my sincere appreciation and official and personal obligations to both officers and enlisted men for the high order of soldierly quality they have displayed during the entire maneuvers. The duties have been onerous and as severe a test of physical endurance as in time of actual warfare and as well nigh worn you out. Yet every duty has been performed not only cheerfully, but intelligently, zealously and with great vigor and persistance. In an experience of some forty-three years I have never seen these qualities manifested by troops to so high a degree. It has seemed that all have endeavored to do their very best without regard to discomfort or fatigue, and anxious to find opportunity to do more. This is not only gratifying to a commander, but shows a sense and knowledge of duty not only commendable, but that you possessed the essentials for and have attained a superlative degree of efficiency. The regular troops are presumed to be highly trained, but the militia cavalry, laboring under many disadvantages, and having no opportunities for constant training and few even for the rudiments necessary for cavalrymen, and none whatever for the work they have been called upon to perform here, have displayed remarkable efficiency that can result only from the proper spirit that should animate the real soldier, which has been a gratifying surprise to and called forth the praise of the regular forces. Their deportment and orderly conduct calls for special praise. Thye may rest assured they have done great credit to themselves and honor to their states.

I thank you all sincerely for your soldierly bearing, conduct and successful work. Very respectfully,

CHARLES MORTON,
Colonel Commanding.

Cut In Convict Fund.

Inquiries have come from many sections of the state as to why the apportionment of school money from convict hire for the third quarter of the year was so small. For the second qurater of the year, which was the first quarter under the new convict lease, about $55,000 was distributed among the counties of the state which do not use felony convicts. But for the last quarter, which ended September 30, there was only about $25,000 distributed. The counties which receive school funds from this source were at a loss to understand the cutting down of their apportionment.

The reason of it is that heretofore the state has been advancing money to pay the expenses of the prison department, which must come out of the proceeds from convict labor. Then when the quarter's rental was received the state would take out what it had expended. As a result of this it recently happened that the warrant of the prison commission for October's expenses had to be held up until the funds for the third quarter were received.

To obviate any difficulty of this kind in the future, it was decided by the state authorities to take out what the state had advanced from other funds, and also to take out enough to pay expenses of the prison department during the last quarter of the year. For this reason, about $57,000 was deducted from the $82,000 received from convict hire, and only about $25,000 was distributed. In the future, only one quarter's expenses will be deducted and the counties entitled to the money from this source will hereafter receive their full share of anywhere from $50,000 to $60,000.

State Capitol News.

The Augusta and Florida Railway Company was yesterday granted a charter by Secretary of State Philip Cook. This company proposes to build a railroad line 60 miles long from Augusta, in Richmond county, to Midville, in Burke county, and its capital stock will be $1,000,000. The incorporators are W. M. Blount, of Union Springs, Ala.; F. J. Holcomb, A. W. Jones, J. Weale, William Stevens and J. T. Davis, of Midville, Ga.; J. I. Davies, of Hephziban, Ga.; D. Crossland, of Aiken, S. C., and G. R. Coffin and C. C. Howard, of Augusta.

Governor James K. Vardaman, of Mississippi, yesterday withdrew a requisition which he had issued in Governor Terrell's favor. Joe Darden was wanted in Laurens county on the charge of swindling a man there out of $57. Darden was located in Mississippi and a requisition sent for him. Governor Vardaman at first granted it, but later withdrew his extradition warrant on the ground that Darden was wanted in Georgia simply for the collection of a debt.

Commissioner J. M. Brown and Secretary George F. Montgomery, of the railroad commission, are in Birmingham, Ala., where they are attending the convention of the International Association of Railroad Commissioners. Commissioner Brown will return to Atlanta at the conclusion of the convention, but Mr. Montgomery will join the party on a trip to Mexico City, which has been arranged for it.

President D. R. Groover, of the Bank of Statesboro, was in the city yesterday, and called at the capitol. While he was here Governor Terrell reappointed the Bank of Statesboro a state depository for a period of four years from December 26, 1904. Governor Terrell also reappointed the Bank of Waycross a state depository for a period of four years from November 22.

The final count of the state vote in the election of November 8 has not yet been concluded by Secretary of State Cook because of the absence of returns from Cherokee, Rabun and Columbia counties. Every effort has been made to get these returns, but up to date nothing has been heard from them. It is required that the consolidation be made and certified to the governor within twenty days after the election. If these counties are not heard from by that time they will have to be left out of the count.

Secretary Goodloe Yancey, of the prison commisison, was yesterday the recipient of a handsome walking stick from Clerk F. W. Gilbert, of the board of county commissioners of Washington county. The stick was made from a piece of wood from the old Heard house, in Washington, where it is said the last meeting of the cabinet of President Jefferson Davis was held.

Hon. J. D. Howard, of Baldwin, speaker pro tem. of the last house of representatives, was among the prominent visitors at the capitol yesterday.

IN THE COURTS.

The Georgia Railway and Banking Company and the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern railroad were yesterday estopped by an order issued by Judge Lumpkin, of the Fulton superior court, from disturbing in any way or interfering with a spur track now in place alongside the property of the Capitola Compress Company on Pearl street. The line in controversy was constructed some time ago by movants in the case, who in the papers filed before Judge Lumpkin assert that the Capitola Compress Company bought land on Pearl street with the intention of erecting a large plant thereon. When the company bought the Pearl street ground it is alleged that the right of way now in question was obtained from Mrs. Annie Stephens, a large sum of money being the consideration. Previous to that trade, the legal documents assert, there had been a side track along the right of way of the Georgia road, but that it was subsequently removed. When the track was removed it was understood that it would be replaced as soon as the compress was completed. The company now asserts, so the papers before Judge Lumpkin show, that it had disposed of the property to the Atlanta, Knoxville and Northern road, and that that corporation contemplated using the ground for drill tracks. Judge Lumpkin granted the prayer, announcing that he would hear the case Saturday morning next at 9 o'clock.

In the Fulton superior court, civil branch, the case of Carrie Marcus, the negro woman who claimed to have been injured by the falling of a floor in a room in which religious services were being held, resulted in a mistrial yesterday. Jasper N. Smith, the owner of the property, was the defendant. The plaintiff wanted damages in the sum of $2,500.

Lewis Thomas, who was arraigned before Judge Broyles, of the police court, a few days ago charged with not supporting his wife and child, and with having struck his wife, will be brought before Judge Calhoun, of the Fulton superior court, Saturday for trial. The warrant upon which Thomas will be arraigned carries the charge of wife beating and vagrancy. It was sworn out by Officer Abbott after Thomas had thrown his head violently against the prison walls at police headquarters, asserting that he was going to butt his brains out.

Judge Lumpkin and a jury gave the greater part of yesterday to a divorce suit in which the parties interested were colored.

Men's Clothing.

Said a man the other day:

"I have never yet been dissatisfied with any of your clothing, but rather seem to be better pleased each year."

We have not built up this large clothing business, giving forty-odd years of our life to have it run down hill, because wool costs more now and labor is higher, and the market is being flooded with cheap cotton-mixed clothing.

You are as sure of buying all-wool fabrics in our men's clothing as if we printed a ticket on each suit and overcoat stating this over our signature.

THEATERS.

At the Grand.

"Iris," the Pinero play in which L. J. Rodriguez is to introduce Jeanne Towler at the Grand this afternoon and tonight, is considered by the best dramatic writers in the United States who have seen it, as a very serious and valuable addition to the dramatic writings of the present time. It is claimed that if it has not the skill of cumulative theatrical effect of his "Gay Lord Quex," which John Hare presented in this country two seasons ago, it is because in the serious treatment of so serious a subject, the author has deliberately avoided such effect. But those who see "Iris," it is claimed, will undoubtedly find themselves thinking of its subject long after "Quex" has been forgotten. The subject of "Iris" is a part of the same thought which inspired the "Second Mrs. Tanqueray" and "The Notorious Mrs. Ebbsmith.'

Miss Towler has in the leading female character of "Iris," from all reports, been eminently successful in the portrayal of Mr. Pinero's latest heroine—a character that gives her an opportunity of convincing the theater-going public that she possesses the requisite dramatic temperament for this much abused woman, Iris Bellamy.

Last year Paul Gilmore came to Atlanta as the star in a new play in which John Drew had won recognition. No one knew much about the play, but Mr. Gilmore was favorably remembered for his acting on a previous engagement. To say that the presentation of this play last season, named "The Mummy and Humming Bird," exceeded all expectations is putting it mildly. But it made a big hit. It is therefore with pleasure that the local management announces the reappearance of Mr. Gilmore in "The Mummy and the Humming Bird" at the Grand Friday and Saturday.

Mr. Gilmore will be supported by a company of talented and exceedingly capable artists, with no weak characters, but every member of the supporting company fully equal to the requirements of their parts.

Miss Helen Grantley's griatest success, "Her Lord and Master," which she will revive at the Grand on Monday and Tuesday is a problem play, but not of the "Guilty Woman" class. Its theme is the old problem of love and marriage, and of the awakening of the soul to the realities of life.

At the Bijou.

Audiences of the most representative sort, have been drawn to the popular Bijou this week, by "Child Slaves of New York," and the attraction has scored one of the most pleasing hits of the season.

"Child Slaves of New York" is a melodrama of the modern school—one of the sort of which so much has been written and said recently. It is mounted in a splendid fashion, dressed becomingly, and set with a musical gem or two, that add to the entertaining powers of a play that is such interest, that the occupant of the loge and orchestra chairs, run a race with the critics up next to the roof, in demonstration of enthusiasm.

The story is full of interest, and there are scenes that thrill, without the usual clap of thunder, or the sea of blood. There is gun powder used, in fact several pounds are exploded by a gatling gun attack on a den, and there are other such sensations, but really the attraction is one worthy of the best patronage, and the attendance has been the limit of the holding capacity of the theater.

The sensational melodrama "Rachel Goldstein," or "The Struggles of a Poor Girl in New York" is announced for next week at the Bijou.

SOCIETY

Howell-Bower.

THE marriage of Miss Adelaide Howell and Hon. Byron Bower, of Bainbridge, Ga., took place last night at 8 o'clock at the residence of the bride's parents, Captain and Mrs. Evan Park Howell, in West End.

Rev. R. L. Cave, of the West End Christian church, performed the ceremony, which was witnessed by relatives and intimate friends only.

Mr. Earle Donaldson, of Bainbridge, was best man, and the bride's sister, Miss Rosalie Howell, was maid of honor.

A group of little children, including Misses Eloise Robinson and Aurelia Speer, and the bride's nieces and nephews, Julia Howell, Louise Cramer, Marion Erwin, Robert and Howell Foreman and Clark Howell, Jr., preceded the bridal party, and carried the white tulle ribbons forming the aisle from the stairway to the drawing room, through which the bride passed with her father. She was preceded by her maid of honor, and was met by the groom and his best man, who, with the officiating clergyman, awaited her coming.

An informal reception followed the ceremony, and a buffet supper was served in the course of the evening.

The bride's gown, in its exquisite daintiness, was most appropriate, the material used a white chiffon cloth, the trimming the finest hand work. The skirt was en train, fullness given in box plaits in the back, and a shirring about the hips, the only trimming an insertion of silk applique and thread lace several inches below the waist line.

The corsage, slightly bloused, had a deep pointed yoke of the silk applique and thread work, and was edged with valenciennes lace. The sleeves, in double puffs, were finished with the applique lace, and the girdle was of hand embroidery and lace. The tulle veil was adjusted with a wreath of orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of white gardenias and Swansonia blossoms.

The maid of honor wore white chiffon, with valenciennes lace, and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums, and the little bridesmaids, wearing white lace frocks and pale blue sashes, carried bouquets of pink rosebuds.

In the family grouped about the bride during the ceremony were her mother, her sisters, Mrs. Robert Foreman, Mrs. Ida Howell Cramer; her sisters in law, Mrs. Clark Howell and Mrs. Albert Howell, and her cousin, Miss Eleanor Howell.

The decorations throughout the house were in white and green, with here and there clusters of rich tinted autumn leaves, giving an effective touch of color.

In the drawing room the bride and groom, receiving congratulations, stood before the cabinet mantel, which had at its base broad leaved palms and other tropical foliage.

The mirror above was framed in asparagus fern, the feathery sprays of which fell veillike over the side. At the lower left hand corner was a bouquet of white chrysanthemums tied with white tulle, while streamers of the tulle were drawn upward to the right hand corner, holding there another cluster of the white chrysanthemums.

The same flowers showed their white blossoms through the foliage of palms and ferns banked in the corner next the mantel, and on the cabinets in other parts of the room. The lace draperies of the windows were hung with asparagus fern, and it framed the arched doorways leading to the hallway and dining room.

Chrysanthemums of varied color decorated the mantels in the library and sitting room adjoining, and there were autumn leaves and autumn tinted bamboo decorating the hallway.

The bride, as Miss Adelaide Howell, has been one of the most admired members of the younger society set. She is a blond beauty, piquant and sprakling, with a personality of rare sweetness and charm.

Mr. Bower is one of the youngest and most popular members of the Georgia legislature, and one of the most prominent young lawyers of the state. He is a trustee of the University of Georgia and a graduate of that institution.

He resides in Bainbridge, Ga., where after a month's visit in Mexico, he will take his bride.

The toilets worn by many of the ladies last evening were distinctly handsome. Mrs. Howell, the bride's mother, wore gray silk and lace. Mrs. Cramer wore black net scintillating in jet sequins. Mrs. Foreman's gown was white crepe de chine applied in point lace. Mrs. Clark Howell wore black lace over white panne silk, effective trimmings in white lace and black velvet ribbons. Mrs. Albert Howell wore white net painted in a design of pink roses and trimmed in applique lace.

Miss Eleanor Howell wore white lisse painted in roses, the bloused corsage trimmed in pink roses.

Miss Anita Phinizy, of Augusta, wore pale pink chiffon cloth.

To Judge and Mrs. Lamar.

COLONEL AND MRS. ROBERT J. LOWRY will entertain at dinner at the Capital City Club this evening in compliment to Judge and Mrs. William Bailey Lamar.

Among those invited to meet them are Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Maddox, Mrs. Don A. Pardee, Mrs. Clarence Knowles, Major Livingston Mims and Mr. William E. Chapin.

The table decorations will be in ferns and chrysanthemums.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Shedden will entertain at dinner for Judge and Mrs. Lamar tomorrow evening.

To Mrs. Felker.

MRS. H. F. SCOTT entertained at at cards yesterday evening in compliment to Miss Floy Felker, of Monroe. There were eighteen young women to enjoy the happy occasion, the game played being progressive six-handed euchre.

The first prize, a pair of black silk stockings, was won by Miss Martha Whitman, and the consolation prize, a white embroidered collar, was won by Miss Josie Lee Williford, and the guest prize was a pair of silk stockings.

A delicious luncheon was served at the end of the game.

Mrs. Scott wore an elegant toilet in black lace. Mrs. Robert Meador wore white lace, and Miss Felker wore pale blue crepe de chine.

Mrs. Rhodes' Luncheon.

MRS. JOSEPH RHODES was the hostess at a beautiful luncheon yesterday at 1 o'clock at the Piedmont Driving Club, the occasion being in compliment to Miss Mayme Miller.

The table, which was circular in shape, was exquisite in its decorations of parma violets. The centerpiece was composed of these flowers, which were tied with narrow violet ribbons extending to the plate of each guest, at which was placed a corsage bouquet of violets.

The bonbons were in violet, as were all the details of the decorations.

Covers were laid for fourteen and an elaborate course luncheon was served.

Mrs. Rhodes wore a handsome gown of pale blue chiffon and lace, with a hat of white lace and blue plumes.

Miss Miller was becomingly gowned in white cloth, trimmed with Irish point lace. With this she wore a hat of Irish lace and white plumes.

The guests included, besides Miss Miller, Miss Amelia Hetzel, Misses Elizabeth and Amelia Hall, Miss Nell Printup, Miss Roberta Cox, Miss Agnes Ladson, Miss Maud Fuller, Miss Alma Pope, Mrs. Joseph Raine, Mrs. Albert Perdue, Jr., Mrs. J. H. Crawford and Mrs. James Williams.

To Miss Miller.

MISS RUTH LEWIS' dinner last evening at her home on Peachtree was a pretty compliment to Miss Mayme Miller.

American beauty roses and white chrysanthemums were used in decorating the table and this color scheme was carried out in all the appointments. In the center was a tall vase of roses surrounded by chrysanthemums and maidenhair ferns, which were laid flat on the table.

The candelabra held tapes and shades of white and the ices were frozen in the shape of roses.

Miss Lewis wore a lovely gown of white lace and Miss Miller's gown was of white grenadine over flowered silk.

The invited guests included Miss Miller, Miss Cox, Miss Printup, Miss Hetzel, Misses Mary and Elizabeth Hall, Mrs. Joseph Raine, Mrs. Maybelle Lewis Houser, Mr. Geddings Tupper, Mr. Gerrard Glenn, Mr. Edward Goodyear, Mr. Frank Dean, Mr. Hall Miller, Mr. Hiram Malone, Mr. Edward Shelby and Mr. John Milam.

D. A. R. Bazaar.

The Atlanta chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, have an attractive bazaar Tuesday, November 22, at the residence of Mrs. W. D. Ellis, on Peachtree street. Pies, cakes, preserves, brandy peaches, aprons of all descriptions, sofa pillows, dolls, pin cushions, handkerchiefs, hand-painted china, etc., will be on sale at reasonable prices. It will be a "bargain day" for those in search of gifts. The procedes will be used in the building of "New Craigie House" on Peachtree road.

Fortnightly Club.

At the meeting of the Fortnightly Club, at the Unitarian church, Friday night, Dr. Alexander Stirling will read a paper on "The Spirit of Russia and Japan."

Dr. Stirling has made a special study of the inner life of the Russians and Japanese. His paper promises to be a real treat. The programme includes some musical numbers. The meetings are entirely free and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Winship-Dillon.

The wedding ceremony which united in marriage Lieutenant Emory Winship, of Macon, Ga., and now of the United States navy, and Miss Katherine May Dillon, of San Francisco, on the evening of Thursday, November 3, telegraph report of which appeared in The Constitution the following morning, is declared to have been one of the most beautiful weddings ever seen in that city.

The ceremony ocurred at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Maurice Casey, on Broadway, and the wide reception rooms, billiard hall and library were made attractive and fragrant with train loads of rare and beautiful flowers. Rare genius and exquisite taste was shown in the decorations, and there was no crowding or over-elaborate floral display. The spacious room under the tower was marked off from the rest of the large library and converted into a sanctuary, where burned lighted candles and glistened snow white chrysanthemums. There is not in San Francisco a home better planned for so elaborate an entertainment.

In its extensive report of the event, The San Francisco Chronicle has the following:

"The wedding was performed in the presence of about thirty of the intimate friends of the bride and groom. Immediately following the ceremony was a reception, to which several hundred guests were bidden.

"Approaching from the hall was an aisle made by twelve pillars topped with nodding chrysanthemums and wound with smilax. An altar rail extended from two heavy gilt pillars of over 6 feet to a gateway, where were two satin pillows. As a background to the altar was a beautiful copy of Murillo's 'Madonna.'

"When the orchestral strains of Lohengrin's ever significant chorus sounded there came, descending the stairs, winding across the broad hall and entering the impromptu aisle the bridal party, led by the following ushers: Paymaster Ball, United States navy; Lieutenant Commander Lopez, United States navy; lieutenant Babcock, United States navy, and Dr. Reginald Knight Smith, United States navy.

"Immediately following them were two daintily clad little maidens, Miss Margaret Casey, sister of the bride, and Miss Kate Crocker, in frocks of white crepe and point lace, with pink hair bows and baskets of Cecil Bruner roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Patricia Cosgrave, Miss Grace Spreckles, Miss Sara Collier and and Miss Ethel Moore came next next in the procession attired alike in gowns of pink chiffon with carnations. Miss Caroline Fosgate, in a charming costume of white crepe, appliqued with pink rose petal butterflies, was maid of honor to her cousin. A bouquet of bridesmaid roses was the only touch of color to her costume.

"A handsome and gracious bride was Miss Dillon in her becoming bridal robes. Over a heavy ivory satin was draped an overdress of rare old rose point, its greatest beauty being its utter simplicity of outline. A bouquet of orchids hung to the hem of her gown. Maurice Casey, the bride's stepfather, escorted her and joined her hand with that of Lieutenant Winship at the altar, while Archbishop Riordan, assisted by Father Ramm, read the service. Major Blanton Winship, United States army, served his brother as best man.

"Immediately after congratulations, Lieutenant and Mrs. Winship led the way to the dining room, where one immense table was beautifully arranged in pink carnations and white chrysanthemums. Seated beside the bride and groom and their wedding party were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Foster Dutton, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Baker Spalding, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Porter Bishop, Miss Florence Ives, Miss Ethel Cooper, Miss Leonnie Blakeman, Miss Gertrude Eells, Mrs. Reginald Knight, Richard Hotalling, J. M. O'Brien and Captain Eugene T. Wilson, United States army.

"At other tables throughout the rooms were placed guests in congenial groups.

"Mrs. Maurice Casey's gown for the happy occasion was a beautiful creation of a hand-wrought cream silk lace over corn colored silk and trimmed with an exquisite imported passamenterie.

"The destination of Lieutenant and Mrs. Winship's wedding journey is not yet revealed, but when they return to San Francisco they will occupy apartments at the St. Francis hotel."

Sonata Recital.

MR. C. EDWARD BUCHANAN, violinist, and Mr. I. M. Mayer, pianist, will give the first of a series of sonata recitals early in December at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Hinman.

The reason of these recitals is purely artistic, and they will be invitation affairs, the guests to include the friends of the hostess, of the two artists and of music, and they will be delightful occasions when the cultured world may enjoy the music of culture under atractive circumstances.

Student Recital.

A RECITAL will be given at Klindworth conservatory tonight which will display the work of a number of promising young piano students. The programme will be as follows:

"Two Duets"—Robert Weinmeister.

"Minuetto," Ferrata—Miss Harry Schlesinger.

"Fugue," Bach—Mr. James Bonner.

"Theme and Variations," Hunten—Miss Rosina Asmus.

"Symphonie," Bach—Miss Maude Benton.

"Perpetual Motion," Alkan—Miss Carrie M. Samford.

"Valse," Conconne—Miss E. Ione Warnock.

"Magic Fire," Wagner-Brassin—Mr. Frank Wiser.

Concerta G minor, first and second movement, Mendelssohn—Mr. Paul Donehoo.

Ensemble, "Sonata," Schubert—Miss Edna Saville.

"Invatation a la Valse," Weber-Tausig—Miss Carrie Mae Griffin.

Concerta Bb minor, Tschaikowski—Miss Hannah Spiro.

UNDERWRITERS IN SESSION.

Insurance Men of Kentucky and Tennessee in Convention.

Louisville, Ky., November 16.—The eleventh annual meeting of the Kentucky and Tennessee board of fire underwriters began today, about 100 members being present. The secretary's report showed the affairs of the board to be in a satisfactory condition. The address of the retiring president was heard with great interest. An interesting feature of today's session will be the consideration of a paper submitted by William Kelday, in which he sets forth the conditions in Tennessee, where, he contends, there is no end of unjust legislation against the fire insurance companies.

The election of officers will take place tomorrow and it is regarded as certain that C. A. Benjamin will be elected president and Claude F. Snyder reelected treasurer and secretary.

The Daylight Corner

True, every clothing house in town has suits and overcoats, but we make it our aim and end to get a little more quality in the wool, superintended by a higher tailoring knowledge and meet competing prices.

Coats with the well defined shoulders and collar——a smartness possible only through the aid of careful hand tailoring.

But any man can see for himself in a very short while, all the reasons why men are always well pleased at Eiseman & Weil.

SEWANEE HAS LIGHT TEAM.

Coach Kirby Smith, of the Tennessee Meds, Confident of Sewanee's Strength.

"Sewanee will give the Vanderbilt team hard fighting for the championship of the south this year," said Kirby Smith, coach of the Tennessee Meds, and last year captain of the Sewanee team, when speaking of the prospects of the Tigers this year.

"The Sewanee team is very light. The team will not average over 156 at the most, probably coming nearer to 153. But the men have team work and are fast as a streak. The Vanderbilt eleven will have a hard time defeating this aggregation.

"Heisman is a great coach," said he, "but I think that he would meet with even greater success than he has already achieved if he would devote himself to straight football and cut out the trick plays. Let me tell you, if an end is taught right none of those plays can come around his end. All he has got to do is to keep on his feet and he will be sure to down his man.

"Heisman's success lies largely, I think, in the fact that he is such a strict disciplinarian. That is the only way to train a team. If he used straight football I do not believe that there would be anything in the south that could stop him.

"From now on to Thanksgiving the Tech team will indulge in secret practice in order to get in perfect trim for the Cumberland men. Very little will be given out in regard to the plans of the team for that day and the men who will go in."

DeOro and Hueston Matched.

St. Louis, November 16.—Arrangements have been completed for a match game between Alfredo DeOro, the pool champion of the world, and Thomas Hueston, of St. Louis, for the title now held by DeOro. The conditions call for 600 points, 200 to be played each night, beginning Thanksgiving.

Archbishop Chappelle Returns.

New Orleans, November 16.—Archbishop Chappelle returned today from an extended trip to Rome. The archbishop will remain here until early in December. He expects to officiate at the consecration of Bishop Van DeVen, of Natchitoches, before he returns to Cuba.

TECHS BETTER SEWANEE SCORE

Tennessee Meds Met Defeat Yesterday Afternoon, Score 59 to 0.

By 1 point the Georgia Tech eleven bettered the record of the Sewanee Tigers against the Tennessee Meds, the Georgia eleven scoring 59 points to 58 made by the men of the mountain.

Still the game was hardly satisfactory from a Tech point of view, for the work of the eleven yesterday was hardly first-class. This fact is plainly shown by the remarks made by the coach and the manager of the Tennessee Meds, that the Techs were slow, and not so strong as they expected.

The hard game of Saturday and the strenuous training for that game was telling on the Techs, and the team was just a trifle stale, hardly able to get in its best work.

Growing encouraged by this fact, Tennessee played better in the second half than in the first, and held the Techs down to four touchdowns, as against six in the first half. It is true, however, that at the end of the second half nearly half of the Tech players were scrubs.

In all, ten touchdowns were made, and Brown added nine points to this number by kicking goal. In nearly every case the goal was an easy one.

For Tech, Brown and Auto Clarke were stars, and Davies made many good long runs while in the game. Auto seldom failed to make from 10 to 15 yards or more when he steamed up and hit the line. Brown's nine goals and several touchdowns showed his good work.

Tech started by kicking off and then obtaining possession of the ball. Within 5 yards of the Mens' goal the Tennessee eleven held for two downs. Then Auto Clarke plowed his way through the line, grinding up and running over everybody who got in his way, scoring the first touchdown. In rapid succession by long runs B. Moore, Houseal and Clarke scored three more touchdowns.

A few minutes after the fourth touchdown the Meds found themselves unable to advance the ball, and called for a punt. The punt was all right but the ends were hardly sure enough and when Brown got the ball he found little to stop him. One man brought him to his knees, but in a moment he was up and away again for a 70-yard run to a touchdown and another goal.

G. M. A. DEFEATS DONALD FRASER

The Georgia Military Academy football eleven made an even break for the season when they met and defeated the Donald Fraser team yesterday afternoon by the score of 11 to 0.

The two teams were well matched and the fighting was hard throughout. At no time did either team have a cinch on the game, thus putting both elevens on their mettle.

In the second half the Georgia Military academy boys played more aggressively and to more effect, securing a couple of touchdowns in ten minutes of play and kicking one goal, winning the game by the score of 11 to 0.

Coe, Ensign, Christian and Oglesby did magnificent work during the contest for the Georgia Military academy, while the stars of Sandy Beaver's eleven were G. Courtwright, Wilhoite and Thomas. Coe made several long runs, Christian handled his team to good effect, and Ensign and Oglesby were used to batter up the Donald Fraser line.

The line-up follows:

Gordon Institute Coming.

Saturday afternoon the Gordon institute eleven of Barnesville will come to Atlanta, to play the second team of the Georgia Techs, and everybody who has watched the work of these two elevens believe that a close game will be played.

The Tech second team has had an easy time with all the other teams in the city in the prep ranks. The Georgia Military academy and Stone Mountain and others have met defeat by good scores. Barnesville is considered the strongest of the preps and a victory over Tech's second team would be of value to their record.

It has been years since Barnesville has been defeated either in baseball or in football, and the eleven which comes to Atlanta Saturday comes believing that another victory awaits them.

GEORGIA PLANS TO MEET TECH

There is a strong probability that Georgia and Tech will meet on the gridiron again this season. The one obstacle to the game lies in the fact that Chancellor Hill may not give his consent.

In Athens there is a feeling that the score would have been different in the Georgia-Tech game had the field been dry, where the backs could move faster. As it was the back field of both teams ploughed through the mud and found it a greater difficulty than breaking through the opposing line.

Another reason, and the principal one, why the two teams are anxious to play another game is that the managements of the two elevens believe another game would prove a money-maker. The last game was well attended, the weather considered, but if the weather had been fair at least 4,000 people would have been present.

The following story from Athens tells of the feeling of the Georgia boys:

"Athens, Ga., November 16.—(Special.)—There is a strong probability that Georgia and Tech will again meet on the gridiron this fall. Each team expected to realize handsomely from the receipts of the game on the 12th and the inclement weather prevented the crowd from attending. A game may be arranged after Thanksgiving day between these two teams to be played in Atlanta. This matter is now being discussed by the football management and it is believed it will be arranged if it is satisfactory with the chancellor."

FOOT BALL AT WORLD'S FAIR.

Carlisle Indians To Meet Haskell Team in Stadium.

St. Louis, November 16.—Arrangements have been completed for a game of football to be played in the Stadium on the world's fair grounds between the Carlisle Indian school of Pennsylvania and the Haskell Indian school of Kansas, on the Saturday following Thanksgiving. The date is also that upon which President Roosevelt will visit the world's fair, and it is expected he will attend. It will be the first time that the gridiron representatives of two government Indian schools have met, and, as they are equally matched as regard weight and playing ability, the game should be interesting.

RECEIPTS RUNNING SLIGHTLY HEAVIER

Indicates a Heavy Movement Into Sight for the Week.

Estimates Now Range Around 550,000 Bales, Against 500,000 Earlier — Futures Closed Steady at a Net Decline of 3 to 8 Points.

New York, November 16.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 1 point to decline of 2 points in response to a pretty steady set of Liverpool cables. Absence of fresh business gave the bears an opportunity to force the market off, and after the first few minutes, during which the prices of practically all options sold about even with the close of the previous night, the market turned easier. Trading was almost entirely local. After declining to a net loss of about 6@8 points the market steadied slightly on room covering, promoted by the large profits. The close was steady at a net decline of 3@8 points with sales of 75,000 bales, according to estimates. The movement is running a little heavier than expected early in the week, and into sight estimates for the week now range around 550,000 bales, against estimates of 500,000 bales earlier. The large exports naturally explain the heavier receipts to some extent.

Dry Goods Market.

New York, November 16.—In dry goods buying is slightly improved and a better tone is noted in certain directions. More business has been done on goods affected by the shut-down at Fall River and prices therefore show an advancing tendency. Jobbers report only a moderate business, but reports more improvement on the road. The carpet sale continued very favorable with satisfactory prices realized.

New Orleans Market.

New Orleans, November 16.—Spot cotton in fair demand and somewhat easier to sell. Sales 5,800 bales, including 2,300 to arrive. Quotations unchanged.

Futures opened easy with prices 4 to 9 points down. On the call a leading bull took 5,000 bales at 9.95, a little later he took 5,000 bales at 9.94. In spite of these purchases the market had an easier tone, and March declined to 9.91, at which figure the same operator offered to take 20,000 bales, but there were very few sellers at these figures. December opened at 9.71, sold up to 9.73 and declined to 9.63. The market closed dull with net losses of 12 points.

Weil Bros. Crop Letter.

Montgomery, Ala., November 16.—Conditions have undergone very little change since the issuance of our letter of the 1st instant. Picking is still going on in nearly all sections, having been interrupted for two or three days by rain during the first part of this month. In some protions of the southern districts it is nearing completion. The quality being gathered at present is considerably lower in grade, but the staple continues to be of excellent character. The spinning quality of this crop is superior to anything that we have had. There is less foreign matter, trash, dust or dirt, in cotton this season than usual, while the fiber or staple seems to be more uniform. The strength of the staple has been remarked upon by a number of our manufacturers as being excellent, and European as well as American spinners have bought and are buying Alabama rivers, using it in some instances instead of what they formerly bought in some sections of The west and southwest. The demand during the last fortnight has been quite adequate to the amount of cotton that has been offered for sale. Planters are pursuing the same policy that they have been for the last month, namely: they are harvesting their cotton rapidly and with care, but selling it slowly, and only when the prices suit them. It is for this reason that while this crop may be, and, in all probability is, a large one, the weight of its has never been felt, and is likely not to be for some time to come, if at all, because the demand, while not in great volume, is incessant. It seems that when the demand from England stops, the continent buys, and when the demand from the continent stops, New England spinners are buying. As to the outturn of the crop in the Atlantic states, we have pointed out in all our letters since the 15th of September, that the yield will show a material increase over the previous year, and as we are nearing the completion of the gathering of the crop our inquiries and investigations lead us to believe firmly that the entire Atlantic states will yield this season 20 to 25 per cent in excess of last year. In this we are not given to extravagant estimates, but feel and believe that we are in keeping with facts and conservatism. From all sections of the world except France we hear of excellent trade and continual improvement. Prices of goods are firm and spinners are demanding here and there advances for their yarns as well as cloth, especially when shipments are desired for immediate use, showing that the stock of goods in the world has been at a low ebb and still shows depletion. Meantime financial as well as trade conditions in the southland continue to be most excellent.

J. L. Anderson & Co.

COTTON—Trading was again interfered with today by wire trouble, and operations were almost entirely local, with buying and selling orders being well divided during the first few minutes and prices showing very little change from the initial figures. The market opened steady at an advance of one point to a decline of two points, or about as due on cables. The weather south was generally clear, with a prospect for rising temperature in the near future. There was a fair amount of activity in the spot market at unchanged prices, earlier advices indicating steady southern markets. Near the end of the first hour the bear interests became slightly more aggressive, causing the market to sell off about 5 points, this decline being promoted by the easier tone of New Orleans, the market closing about 6 points off.

GRAIN—Excellent weather for the movement of the crop brought out general selling in the wheat pit today, resulting in an easier tone, this also being caused by lower cables and liberal world's shipments. The selling of May by pit traders was the feature of today's trading. December opened 1-8 to 1-4c higher at $1.10 7-8 to $1.11 1-4. After selling down to $1.10 3-8 the price rallied to $1.11. May opened 1-8c lower to 1-4c higher at $1.11 3-8 to $1.11 5-8, sold off to $1.10 7-8, and then advanced to $1.11 3-8 to $1.11 1-2. Receipts were 583 cars against 628 last year. Reports of dry weather in the southwest caused the market to become decidedly stronger later in the day, it continuing to advance until December had touched $1.12½ and May $1.12 5-8. As result of easier cables and clear cool weather, sentiment in the corn pit was rather bearish. December opened 1-8¾1-4c lower at 49 7-8c to 50c, sold off to 49 3-4 and rallied to 50c. Local receipts were 185 cars, none of contract grade.

STOCKS—Trading in stocks was mixed today. Although some of the leading shares made substantial gains, others weakened slighfly and sold off, copper and sugar being among the leaders. Metropolitan showed considerable strength and proved to be the feature of the railroad list. The market as a whole shows splendid strength and activity, and is an excellent opportunity for profitable trading. There was no indication of lower values and purchases on all dips should bring substantial results.

Miller & Co.

COTTON—H. & B. Beer, New Orleans, in their circular letter today, say: The downward reaction which set in yesterday was productive of further weakness in the market today. Liverpool closed at a loss of 6 to 7 points, but spots there remained steady and unchanged at 5.44d for middling; sales 8,000. The easier tendency of the English market, which brought about a further decline in America, was attributed to importers selling against purchases in the United States, to the accumulation of stocks and to the passing of the storm from the Atlantic coast. Locally the market opened easy with January at 9.81, 3 points lower than the closing of yesterday. The weather map was more favorable, showing higher temperature with no rain in the belt. Spots were reported in poor demand in the early morning, but a fair business was transacted in the afternoon, the market closing easy and unchanged on sales of 3,000, and 2,800 to arrive; middling 9¾c. Liverpool private advices take a favorable view of the situation, claiming spinners to be buying largely in the English market; that mills are running to their full capacity; that big orders are going through and hold to the opinion that prices cannot give way much at present, and that their best merchants think favorably of cotton. The movement since Friday at thirteen interior towns proved to be a little more than expected in the way of receipts—155,771, against 167,959 last year, as outside of Houston, where receipts were 60,000, against 91,000 one year ago; arrivals were about 19,000 larger than last year and stocks at thirteen towns showed an increase of 36,431, against 21,249 for the same period one year ago. Ports for the day were estimated at 53,000, against 77,777; since Friday 260,000; last week 253,479; last year, 333,073. The all-absorbing topic at the moment is what probable estimate of the crop by the government will be. Estimates range all way from 10,500,000 to 11,500,000 as the figures likely to be issued by the department of agriculture, based on line per acre and acreage devoted to the staple. As a demonstration that longs have faith in the market, irrespective of the government estimate, one block of about 10,000 bales of March contracts was purchased today by a leading operator, who is placing more importance in the wants of the world and large consumption than on estimates of crop, which may be exaggerated. In advance of this official estimate, the trade will be treated to a series of ginners' reports on cotton ginned to November 14, and tender day will come about same time and supporters of the market may be called upon to care for what might be delivered on contracts. The market has an easier undertone and may work lower temporarily.

Available Supply Changes.

New York, November 16.—Special cable and telegraph communications received by Bradstreet's show the following changes in available supplies as compared with last account:

Wheat—United States and Canada east of the Rockies, increase 4,213,000 bushels; afloat for and in Europe increase 2,300,000. Total supply increase 6,518,000.

ALL GOING BUT NOT ALL GONE

APPLY NOW FOR STOCK IN THE "EL CIEGO" LAND AND CATTLE COMPANY

A home company with a fully paid capital stock of $100,000, now being organized in Atlanta to acquire and operate the famous Cuban cattle farm of "El Ciego," at Los Palacios, Province of Pinar del Rio, Cuba, containing about 8,000 acres on which this company has an option at the very low price of $7.00 per acre—about one-seventh that asked for adjoining lands.

A PERFECTLY SAFE INVESTMENT and a most profitable one, too! 50 per cent and more per annum is now earned by cattle companies doing business in Cuba, where the demand for hog and cattle products is great, due to the almost complete annihilation of the live stock there during the late war.

CATTLE IMPORTED DOUBLE IN VALUE IN THREE TO FIVE MONTHS ON THE RICH PASTURE LANDS OF "EL CIEGO," HOGS IN EVEN LESS TIME.

With nearly $50,000 working capital (in addition to the cost of the ranch) the dividends of this company will undoubtedly be very large. The land itself can be cut up into small tracts and sold off even now for three times its cost, and for double that sum in a few years more.

Send in your subscription today! It will not be payable until after a committee of prominent Atlanta business men, subscribers to the stock of this company, have visited this great cattle farm in person, and found it exactly as represented in every particular—one-half the subscription to be paid then, and one-half ninety days later.

There is no "graft" or "water" in this company—nothing but a very safe and very profitable investment, and one you cannot afford to miss.

See what a prominent Cuban of Havana, a very successful broker and real estate dealer, writing to a personal friend in this city, says of this land—and he is a wholly disinterested party, too!

"You ask me to inform you in regard to the 8,000 acres at Los Palacios, on the south side of the railroad line, as you do not want to waste your time to work bad land.

"With all the truth that I always act, I must inform you that this 8,000 acres, of "El Ciego" is excellent and fine for cattle business; not only for cattle, but for all kinds of cultivation and planting; everything grows good and fine, the land is plain, level, plenty of water; before the war the land had on it 5,000 or 6,000 head of cattle, well fed, the owners of the land were rich, very rich; their riches came from the land. The cane (sugar) grows high and thick. Don't be afraid to go into the deal you mention. I guarantee you that no man you send down to buy land will see a better tract. The guinea and parona grass, the finest in the world for cattle, is planted on this land, and keeps today fresh, high and green as ever. The deeds (titles) are all right; free and clear. The location can't be better; three hours from Havana, one block from the town of Los Palacios, on the Western railroad line."

Mr. P. H. Harralson, who has lived five years in Cuba, and has some paying investments there, is also interested in this company, and assisting Messrs. Thrower & Co., in its organization.

Call or write for prospectus and subscription blank—and do it today!

CASH BUSINESS IS MUCH BETTER

Demand at Minneapolis Best Experienced Thus Far on Crop.

Report That Japan Would Soon Buy Heavily of Flour Induced Cash Demand—Both May and July Options Closed Near the Highest.

Chicago, November 16.—Prospective sales of large quantities of flour to Japan was one cause for a sharp advance in speculative wheat prices here today. At the close December wheat was up 1 3-8@1 1-2c, and May 1@1 1-8c. Corn is up 1 1-4c. Oats showed a gain of 1-8c and provisions 2 1-2@15c.

Before the opening in the wheat pit traders were greeted with an official statement of the world's shipments and of the visible supply. Both totals being discouraging to the bulls, sentiment at the start was rather bearish. Another factor contributing to the easier tone was the foreign markets. Liverpool was down over 1-2c. Initial quotations here on December were 1-8c lower to 1-4c higher at $1.10 7-8@1.11 1-4. May was 1-8c lower to 1-8c higher at $1.11 3-8@1.11 5-8. For a time there was general selling and prices slumped, December to $1.10 3-8 and May to 1.10 7-8. Shorts took advantage of the break and covering sales caused an upward movement in prices. As the session advanced the buying was more general and resulted in a strong undertone. The improved demand was attributed mainly to a revival in cash business at all principal grain centers. A message from Minneapolis stated that the demand for cash wheat there was the best experienced thus far on the crop. One explanation of the sudden development of the demand for cash wheat in the northwest was the presumption that millers had either made some large sales of flour or that they had come into the market for future supplies because of the dip in prices. In this connection a message from the Pacific coast stating that it was hinted there that Japan will be forced to buy immense stocks of American flour within a few weeks was considered significant. News from the southwest was about equally bullish. Receipts today at St. Louis and Kansas City were about 40

OPENING PRICES SLIGHTLY LOWER

Reaction Vigorously Opposed Shortly After Opening.

Copper, the Local Tractions and the Subsidiary Pennsylvania Stocks Were Features of Strength. The Market at Close Was Easy.

New York, November 16.—Values of securities showed themselves sensitive today to the renewed uneasiness in London over the reports of friction in the nations, Russia and Great Britain, over the North sea trouble. There was some vigorous opposition to the reaction at the opening, but the supporting tactics became languid when the lightness of incoming buying orders were perceived. A fairly general reaction followed. The later improvement in London sentiment and the termination of the day's business for account of that capital opened the way for recoveries in the later market, and there were a number of aggressively strong features developed to help on the rally, besides the violent movements in obscure specialties, which continued in evidence with a rather dubious effect on speculative sentiment as a whole. The action of stocks which were the subjects of good news announcements, was especially disappointing in the early reaction. Atlantic Coast Line's "melon" cutting was greeted with a 2½-point decline in its price, and Louisville and Nashville, for which an augury of an increased dividend is drawn from the Atlantic Coast Line disbursement, was sharply depressed. The advance in the price of steel billets of $1.50 per ton increased the selling pressure on United States Steel and some of the other steel industrials resulting in losses of a point or more. The features of strength in the market were Amalgamated Copper, the local tractions and the subsidiary Pennsylvania stocks. They failed to sustain prices at the late recovery, and the market closed easy, with some stocks at the lowest of the day.

Rock Island bonds were active and strong, but some of the other active speculative issues were weak. Total sales, par value, $10,515,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Money on call steady at 2@2½ per cent, closing bid and offered at 2; time loans slightly firmer; sixty days 3 1-4@3½ per cent; ninety days and six months 3 3-4@4; prime mercantile paper 4@4½ per cent.

Sterling exchange easier, closing firm, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.86.70@4.86.75 for demand and at $4.83.90@4.84 for sixty day bills; posted rates $4.85@4.87½; commercial bills $4.83 5-8@4.83 3-4.

Bar silver 58 1-8c.

Mexican dollars 46 1-4c.

Government bonds steady.

Railroads bonds irregular.

The Howell Jones Co.

COTTON—The market for cotton futures in the local market this morning, opened quiet but steady, with first prices showing a decline of 1 to 3 points. Telegraphic connection with the south was still restricted on account of the recent storm, and the market felt the need of the support from that section. There was not much business doing either way, only a little trading by the professionals. Liverpool cables showed a decline of 4 to 5 points, which about met our decline yesterday. However, the spot demand in that market was good, and showed a tendency on the part of consumers to get a liberal amount of cotton at the present prices, sales in that market amounting to 8,000 bales today. The weather conditions in the south were still reported to be quite favorable, and the cotton is still being marketed rather freely, although the receipts as compared with last year were somewhat disappointing to the bears. Port receipts for the day were estimated at 53,000, against 77,777 last year.

WHEAT was more active, and after selling off at the opening, was carried a point higher on covering by shorts. Cables were a little better than expected, and the export demand was fair. There was fair buying for the account of the northwest millers. Receipts were fair, and a good cash demand was reported.

CORN—The corn market, after slight declines at the opening, showed considerable strength, December again having the appearance of being manipulated. There was a fear on the part of shorts in this option that they would have to pay dear for their shorts, and there was a general inclination to get under cover.

OATS were dull and showed little inclination either way, although the tone at the close was strong in sympathy with the advance in other cereals. Receipts were only moderate.

PROVISIONS were dull. Larger receipt of hogs continues to restrain buyers. The movement of product was liberal, but packing interests still continue to keep out of the market.

Cothran & Co.

COTTON—Gilbert & Clay, New Orleans, in their circular letter today, say: Liverpool cables, slightly delayed, cited a prosperous condition among spinners and in the cloth market. The mills are now running on full time with large orders in hand, and a rather favorable opinion of the market was expressed. Options, however, failed to reflect the excellence of the business being done, closing at a decline of 6 English points. Spot prices remained unchanged. Some good sized blocks of cotton were traded in at the lower levels established at our opening. The bidding for additional large lots served to check further material declines. Trading quieted and subsequently was desultory. Very few opinions voice a crop under 11,000,000 bales, and many conservative traders believe the figures will be around 11,300,000. Indications of a greater or less quantity in the coming ginners' report and December 3 government estimate will influence prices for better or for worse as the case may be. The consumption of 11,000,000 bales may reasonably be expected at present prices with a slight increase at lower figures, and on a material decline spinners would provide themselves in excess of actual requirements, especially in the event of an unpromising planting season. Hence, unless the expected estimate confirms the idea of those more bearishly inclined, immediate declines should not be excessive.

WHEAT—There was free selling at the start on lower cables, fine weather and bearish statistics, the local crowd becoming very bearish and imbued with the idea that the market was in line for a big shake-out. There was heavy commission house buying, generally supposed to be for Armour and with the development of a stiff cash demand in Minneapolis, prices turned quite strong and there was a scramble to cover shorts with the bull element encouraged and increasing their lines. To-day's advances were quite a surprise to the trade, but the market is a huge reeling affair, so that with advances appearing tomorrow, especially if pronounced, we would favor profit taking.

CORN—There was selling early on the break in wheat, but December was scarce and bid up sharply, a good class of buying appearing in May, offerings for country acceptances being well taken. We look for a good cash demand considering the light stocks here, and think it an unsafe proposition to sell December in a speculative way. The undertone is quite strong, and on dips we would favor buying of May.

OATS—Receipts were light. Sample lots were steady with excellent buying of May by Armour and other cash houses. We would favor purchases on dips for scalping turns only.

PROVISIONS—Shipments of meats were over last year with lard under. Hogs through the west being in large supply and easy here, starting a little local selling, although the offerings were light and taken by packers. The market turned quite strong, pork especially on commission house buying that was more extensive than for some time, and we think prices are in line to do better.

MR. C. C. WALTON, Manager, OCTOBER 28th, 1904.
LOOSE LEAF DEPT., FOOTE & DAVIES CO., CITY.

DEAR SIR:—The loose-leaf system you installed for us sometime ago has greatly reduced our work and our only regret is that we did not have it when we first started business. We unqualifiedly recommend the JONES IMPROVED LOOSE-LEAF BINDERS as being the best in point of durability, neatness and perfection of mechanism, and as an absolutely flat-opening book it is without an equal.

Yours truly,

GEORGIA, FULTON COUNTY.—In pursuance of an order from the honorable court of ordinary of Fulton county, granted on the first Monday in October, 1904, to me directed, I will offer for sale, and sell to the highest bidder, before the court house door of Fulton county, in the city of Atlanta, on the first Tuesday in December, 1904, between the legal hours of sale, the following property of Robert Dohme, late of said county, deceased, to-wit:

All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the city of Atlanta, and being part of land lot 83, of the 14th district of said Fulton county; commencing at a point on the north side of Magnolia street, one hundred (100) feet east of Davis street, and running thence east along Magnolia street eighty-one and one-half (81½) feet to an alley, thence north along the west side of said alley one hundred (100) feet, thence west eighty-one and one-half (81½) feet, thence south one hundred (100) feet to point of beginning, being part of lot 8, of block 29, of the subdivision of said land lot 83.

Also, the equity which the said Robert Dohme, deceased, owns in a certain city lot in Atlanta, being in land lot 76, of the 14th district of Fulton county; described as beginning at the southeast corner of Pulliam and Clarke streets, and running thence south along the east side of Pulliam street fifty-four (54) feet, thence east one hundred and forty-five (145) feet to an alley, and thence north along the west side of said alley fifty-four (54) feet to Clarke street, thence west along the south side of Clarke street one hundred and forty-five (140) feet to beginning point, the same being improved property, the interest held by the said Dohme being under a bond for title from A. K. Hawkes, and part of the purchase money being due and unpaid.

Also, the equity which the said Robert Dohme has and owns in a certain tract of land lying and being in the city of Atlanta, and in West End, being part of lot No. 2, in the subdivision of land lot 109, of the 14th district of Fulton county; and described as beginning at a point on the north side of West End avenue (formerly Thrasher street) one hundred and thirty-six (136) feet east of Ashby street, and running thence east along the north side of West End avenue one hundred and eighty-six (186) feet, thence north two hundred and fifty (250) feet, thence west one hundred and eighty-six (186) feet, thence south two hundred and fifty (250) feet to beginning point, together with the improvements thereon, the equity of the said Robert Dohme in this property, being that which is held under a bond for title from the British and American Mortgage Company, Limited, of oLndon, England.

To be sold as the property of Robert Dohme, deceased, for the purpose of paying the debts of said deceased, and for distribution among his legatees under his will.

M. A. HARDIN,
Administrator with the Will Annexed of Robert Dohme, Deceased.
THOMAS F. CORRIGAN, Attorney.
